Fred,
It was fun being
confused together in them.
This year. If you keep working hard in the weight room maybe you will be as massive as me someday

Ken "Kong" Levine

Fred
You guy you. You sure know how to dress and act.
Remember dress how you like and not as others like. When high school and those glasses. Work hard and maybe someday you can graduate faster to European music only!
Have a clean summer!

Fred,
Nice legs but I wish you would wear a certain private article of clothing and spare us all --- You are getting more violent through the years and even talking to you is starting to brighten me. EEE HK!

Fred
How is things going? Have a super summer
what can I say we had so fun this year and some not so fun times but that's life

1. If you want to fly high, you can visit the new EAA Aviation Center and see some of the old and the new sights of the aviation age. 2. R.V.'s only? Well this hot air balloonist must not have seen the sign when he came to drop in on Oshkosh for a visit at the 1983 annual EAA convention. 3. The Oshkosh Public Museum recently opened the new Steiger wing. 4. The Indianfest bonfire featured the Pep Band and an Appleton Terror burned effigy. 5. When you want to go for a nature walk and learn some ancient history at the same time, stop at Kettle Moraine Park and walk down the Glacier trail. 6. Because of the EAA, Oshkosh is now listed by tour bus companies as one of the 100 top attractions in the United States.

1. During Indianfest Week, Forensics entered the only court display. It depicted a torture chamber set up to welcome the Appleton West Terrors. 2. The Grand Opera House finally underwent long-awaited renovations. Both the outside and the inside are being repaired. 3. Although many people don't notice them, the engravings found over the entrances to the Courthouse depict Wisconsin's cultural heritage. Shown here is the first native of Wisconsin, the Indian. 4. Another Wisconsin native, Oshkosh B'Gosh clothing, opened their own outlet store in downtown Oshkosh. Oshkosh B'Gosh clothes could be found at reduced prices. 5. Not only a great place to read a book, the Oshkosh Public Library also has magazines, records, paintings, and films. Children of Oshkosh are attracted by the two majestic-looking lions guarding the front steps. 6. Dedicated in October, the Carl Trager Nature Center is a pleasant sight to anyone walking down the West wing corridor. The Center also has a greenhouse, providing horticulture students with experience.

Dedicated To Students For 37

He would give a friend the shirt off his back. He literally did — by pulling off his fake-front shirt for an assembly of faculty members. Since 1947, Mr. Fratt has been guiding students to pave the way for future generations, first at Oshkosh High School and later, at Oshkosh West High School. He is not the authoritative tyrant most vice principals are stereotyped, but a warm caring individual who bends the rules when necessary. Many times he has gone to bat for students or rearranged programs enabling them to work outside school for financial reasons.

He was born in Burlington, Wisconsin, on December 20, 1921. After receiving his Master's Degree in education at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Mr. Fratt taught math at Oshkosh High School. Why teaching, do you ask? Mr. Fratt enjoys the day-to-day contact with students.

He must enjoy children, for he has five: Pat, Mary Lynn, Nancy, Tom, and Bob. And to top it off, ten grandchildren.

One of Mr. Fratt's talents is being "well-organized and efficient. He gets back to the teachers on what he's doing," stated Pat Kaprelian. Mr. Fratt is in charge of freshmen and senior disciplinary actions, implementation of school assemblies, pep rallies, and fall registration. "There will be no exceptions," he has stated and restated after giving faculty members step by step instructions.

In his spare time, Mr. Fratt enjoys being outdoors: hiking, fishing, bird-watching, sailing, and just plain puttering around. He is interested in building projects at the family cottage at Waupaca and future traveling. The Fratts have been to Germany, Austria, and Switzerland.

"Mr. Fratt is a hardworking administrator who probably isn't appreciated by all persons in school. I think he has been the glue that has kept the school running efficiently," expressed Seraph Kaprelian. "If only every school had a Mr. Fratt!"

PLACES TO GO

Forgive me, Father, for I must run:
I've got so many places to go,
and not all of them are much fun.

If I'm hungry, it's to Hardee's, for a burger, shake and fries,
or maybe out to Shakey's,
for some flirting with the guys.

Entertainment is found at Skateworld, or at Cinemas 1-4.

If a last minute sports event's my game,
I'll get my ticket at the door.

After school I was at practice, then downtown to shop awhile.

Saturday I have to work to earn the bucks to keep in style.

Yes, dear Father, my day was fine,
I've told you all I know,

I'll be in at twelve. I love you, too.
But I've really got to go.

Places To Go — Indianfest

OH, WHAT A FEELING!!

Oh, what a feeling to see students taking part in Indianfest! The turn-around began with a committee of students and teachers who planned the different activities. The theme of all the activities was "Oh, What a Feeling," from the movie Flashdance. These activities included: dress up days, Parking Lot Fun, a bonfire, a pep rally, half-time entertainment, and concluded with a dance featuring the Rose Canyon Band.

Car decorating, which replaced float-making, eliminated time, cost, and the problem of destruction of the floats. Students had a chance to paint their cars on Thursday during the Parking Lot Fun, which was followed by the bonfire. The cars were judged in four categories. First places were awarded to Derek Dahlke, Originality; Sue Weyenberg, Best Use of Theme; Gina Rost, Most School Colors; and Dawn Belke, The Judges' Award.

The spirit of the pep rally was revealed as the cheerleaders, football players, and faculty members acted in a musical, role-reversal skit. The cheerleaders portrayed the Oshkosh West football team defeating the Appleton West team, performed by the faculty members. The Oshkosh team was cheered on by cheerleaders made up of members of the football team.

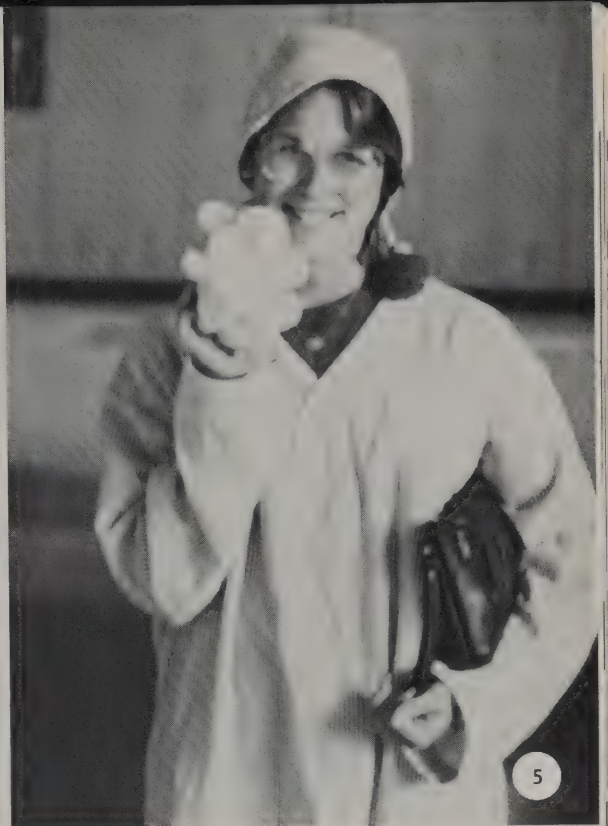

The Pom Pon squad used the theme in a routine to "Maniac," another song from Flashdance. Coach Grable increased the school spirit by giving a rousing pep talk showing the determination of the football team to win the game against the Appleton West Ghosts. Rain caused some problems and the Indians suffered a disappointing 20-7 loss.

There was a big effort to make the dance more than just any other dance. Decorations were put up by the Student Council and students dressed up. "Oh, What a Feeling" to have Indianfest on its way back to success!

Showboat Shows Students How

1. Parthy (Heidi Henkel) informs Captain Andy (Devin Gaymon) of Ravenal's past life. 2. Joe (Mark Miller) sings about the ol' man river. 3. Captain Andy (Mike Hutzler) yells back at Parthy during an argument. 4. Magnolia (Julie Elsinger) accepts Ravenal's (Jim Fischer) Proposal of marriage. 5. Joe (Peter Dehn) discusses his problems with the river. 6. Magnolia (Lori Radatz) sings her love to Ravenal (Jeff Subat). 7. The backwoodsmen (Tom Counts and Peter Dehn) give Frank (Jim Lemkuil) a hard time about ticket prices.

Life Is On The Mississippi

The orchestra sounded, the curtain opened, and the A Cappella Choir and Chorale came to life in their first performance of Showboat. Showboat is the story of two people traveling along the Mississippi River. They meet and fall in love. The most memorable songs of the show included "Only Make Believe", "Can't Help Lovin' That Man", and "Ol' Man River".

Larry Klausch, general producer of the show, said that he was pleased at the way the show turned out. "The kids really did a good job this year. I am very pleased with the final productions."

There were a couple of things that made scene changes a little slower. The main thing was the boat. It was cumbersome and hard to move, even though it was on rollers. Another problem was the "Trocadero" scene. This scene involved setting up a restaurant; placing a number of tables and chairs on the stage. In the first couple of dress rehearsals, this scene was the slowest in setting up. By the time the shows came, everything was running smoothly.

The student reaction to the show varied. Some of the students didn't think that the show was performed as well as in previous years. "Some of the actors needed work on their acting. I couldn't hear a lot of them even though I sat right near the front," commented one student. But many people liked the show. "I really enjoyed the music," commented Junior Paul Lehman. Many people commented that they liked the change of pace from last year. So the musical can be considered a success.

Schmalz Returns From Michigan

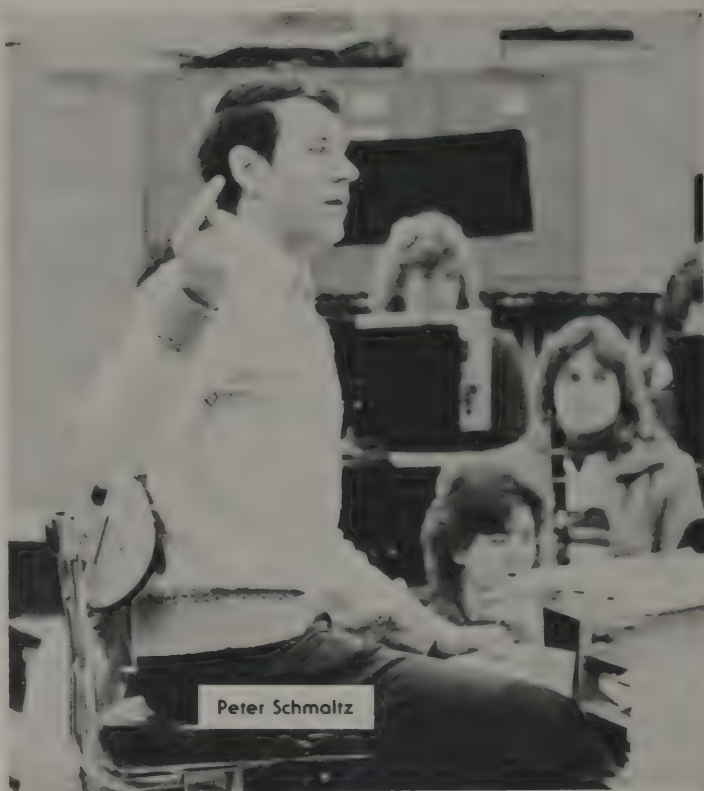

Peter Schmalz returned to Oshkosh West after spending a year at Michigan State University. He went there in order to receive his doctorate in conducting. He still has his final project to complete, but has fulfilled the other requirements.

"It was a fantastic year to be able to live the life of a student at a major university," commented Schmalz.

Mr. Schmalz has taught at West eleven years and has written some of the music that his bands play for their concerts. He has always been interested in music, but it wasn't until his junior year in high school that he began to realize the true beauty that music held. He knew he wanted to continue with a music career after listening to the music composed by Wagner, Strauss, Mahler, and others. When asked why he decided on teaching instead of composing, he said, "It was always my dream to be a high school band director." He furthered his explanation by saying that he wanted to help kids see the potential that music has for them.

As a junior in high school Mr. Schmalz was playing the trumpet, and started playing the french horn as a senior. In college, Lawrence University, he learned how to play the rest of the band instruments so he would be of help to his students. His greatest influence in college was the band director who he fondly referred to as "Prof." "Prof. was almost a second father to me - still is!" stated Schmalz.

In closing Mr. Schmalz said that even though he expects more from his students after working with highly motivated college performers, he is very glad to be back at Oshkosh West.

Schwebke Starts Youth Symphony

When Kris Schwebke, the orchestra director, was five years old, he was first exposed to musicianship as his older brother and sister began to take piano lessons. At the age of six, he began to take piano lessons, and added violin to his repertoire in third grade. He started taking private lessons in sixth grade.

Kris Schwebke planned on having an English major when he entered the University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh, but changed to a music major during his college education.

While Mr. Schwebke enjoys racquetball, his big interest this year is the newly developed Oshkosh Youth Symphony. "I really wanted something like this started in town because I wanted the good student musician to have an outlet for their talent," Mr. Schwebke explained.

The members of the Oshkosh Youth Symphony are chosen by audition, and are sixth grade through college. Mr. Schwebke and Mr. Schimek, the conductor from North High, started the Youth Symphony, and are pleased with the progress it has made.

Klausch Serves West, Miss Wis.

Larry Klausch first became involved in music when he started taking piano lessons in the fifth grade. When he began high school he learned how to play the saxophone and accompanied the choirs on the piano. "I was heavily involved with music", explained Klausch.

Mr. Klausch went to college at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. In college he learned to play all the band instruments. He received his degree in teaching instrumental and vocal music.

In 1964 Mr. Klausch began teaching at West. Soon after he was asked to direct the pit orchestra in the Miss Wisconsin Pageant. Two years later he became the Director-Producer and two years after that he became the Executive Director or Head Administrator.

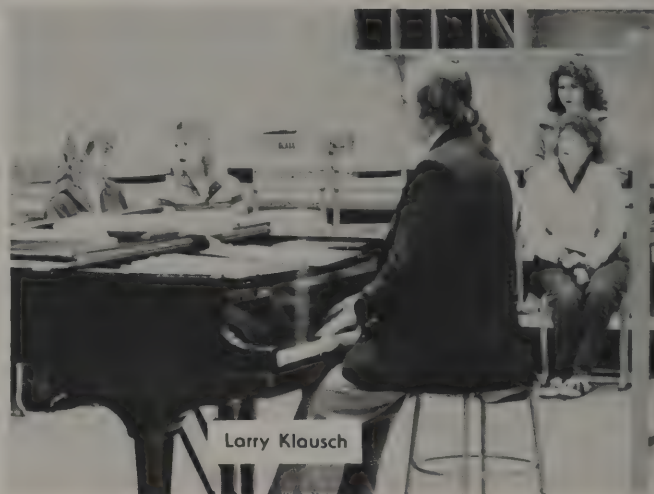

As the Executive Director, Mr. Klausch brings together the representatives of the city pageants and organizes them into the state pageant which is held in the Civic Auditorium.

In 1983, the pageant received an award for being one of the top pageants in our country. The 1983 pageant commemorated the 20th anniversary of the state pageant being held in Oshkosh. "Receiving this award is a very high honor!" Mr. Klausch noted.

Working with the pageant is "a unique experience. You meet a lot of new people," commented Mr. Klausch. Mr. Klausch stated that he was glad that the pageant deals with education.

It makes available the largest educational scholarship for women.

Mr. Klausch is the church organist and directs his church choir. He also plays in a dance band. "I don't enjoy just one part of music. I enjoy all of it," concluded Mr. Klausch.

Computer Class Catches On

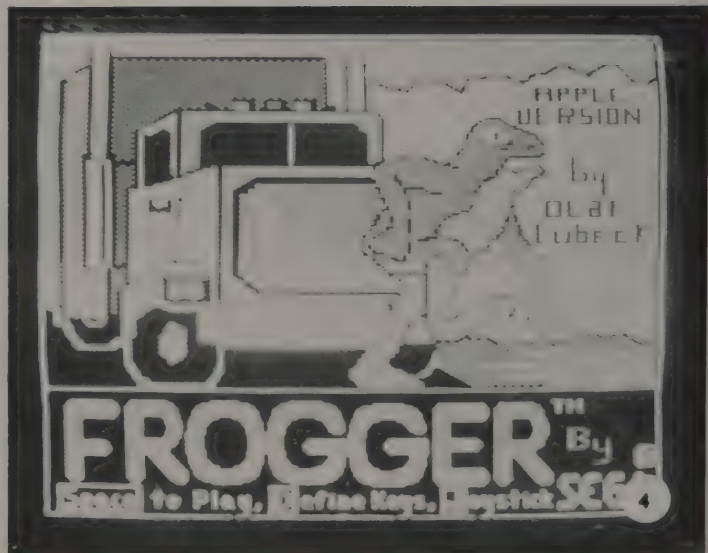

A new class in computers, called microcomputer basics, began in November. The nine week long class dealt with teaching the basics of microcomputer terminology, components and operation, and was mainly an introduction to the Apple II.

The Apple II is a type of microcomputer which is very common in the world of computers and has a solid base in school systems all through the country. A typical Apple II system at West consisted of a monitor, disk drives and a printer, not to mention the computer itself. In the math department, through which the class was taught, there were six of these computer systems. Two of them were new this year and increased the amount of time students might spend operating the microcomputer.

The place to go if you wanted to see students programming or just operating the Apples was the math lab (room E14). All of the Apples in the math department, except one, were on carts so they could be rolled into the classroom for in-class operation and programming.

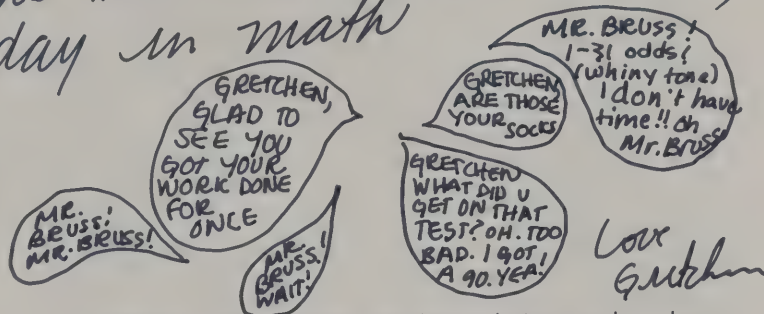

The class, which was held fifth hour, was made up of 15 to 25 students of all levels of ability. "With 25 students they were having too many problems at North. Ideally there shouldn't be more than 20 for computer math with the equipment we have and 15 for microcomputer basic," said Mr. Bruss. Bruss, who also taught computer math, has been teaching at West for 18 years and has been working with computers for 15 years. The class was geared toward the person who had no experience with microcomputers and drew students from all grade levels. It taught the student how to bring up the system, how to handle the disks which the disk drive uses to operate, how to initialize a disk (a process which allows a person to set up his own personal disk), and how to activate the printer. It also gave a brief introduction to the Basic language so students could write some programs but differed from computer math in that it didn't go into depth on the subject of programming. The class also gave students the opportunity to work with commercially prepared programs. The one thing it did not allow was game playing, an offense which could result in a student's being kicked off the computer if caught.

On - The - Job Experience Helps

CO-OP WAS FOR THE STUDENT WHO: 1) Wished to reach a career goal, 2) Wasn't sure if a particular area was for him/her, 3) Was going on to college or vocational school and wanted something to "fall back on". The choice of fields that students had a choice of working in were: Office Occupations, Sales & Marketing, Food Services, Applied Electronics, Applied Metals, Agri-Business, Automotive Service, Industrial Drafting, Data Processing, Vocational Agriculture, Graphic Arts, and Health Careers Program.

CO-OP HELPS ME TO . . . be more self-supportive. It has also given me a great job experience, which I intend to keep to help me through technical school. -(Wendy Wolf) . . . decided to go to college instead of technical school. -(Kris Richey) . . . learn some things that you just can't learn in the school shop. -(Warren Davies) . . . talk and actually do things in class related to food service jobs. -(Renee Larson) . . . get the experience of working in an office, so I will know what to expect when I go into the working field after graduation. -(Julie Kasper) . . . look at the kind of jobs I might be doing. -(Larry Watson) . . . learn the skills that I will need to obtain and keep a good job. -(Cassandra Apkarian) . . . prepare for the ups and downs that may happen on any job. -(Debbie Seiberlich) . . . get experience that you can't get anywhere else except on the job. -(Marie Putzer).

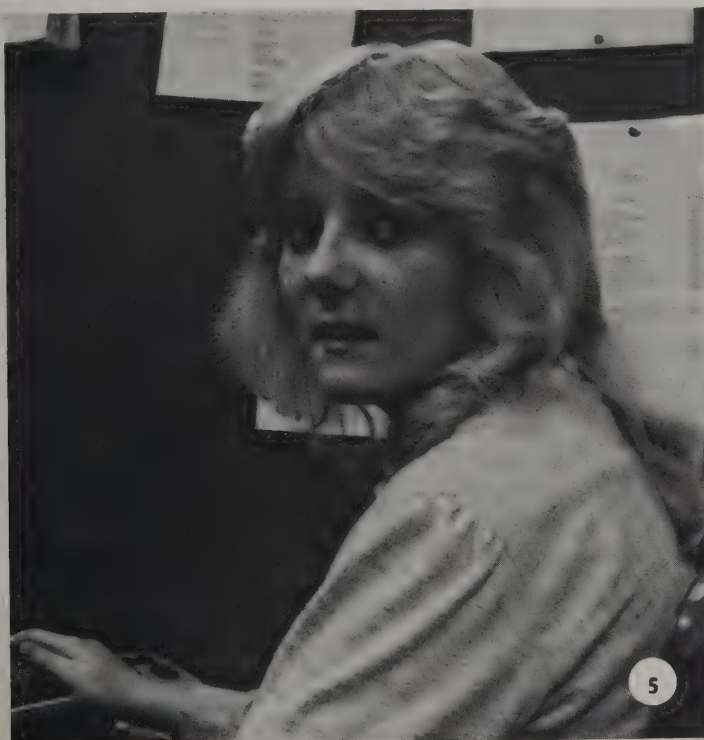

I LIKE MY JOB BECAUSE . . . I like running errands for my boss in his cadillac. -(Deb Pongratz) . . . I really like my boss, he is more of a friend to the employees. -(Daryl Schmidt) . . . I like the variety of work I do. -(Sue LaCroix) . . . I enjoy what I do, and I get along with my bosses very well. -(Cassandra Apkarian) . . . I like coming in to work and not having a routine job all the time. -(Kim Koechell) . . . I'm interested in being around people. -(Debbie Innerebner).

SOMETIMES I DON'T LIKE MY JOB BECAUSE . . . of the pressure there is at times. -(Kris Rickey) . . . people call in half an hour before appointments and say they can't make it. -(Annette Biernat) . . . of the manual typewriter I have to use. -(Amy Schettl) . . . it has limited experiences, and I would like to learn more about different situations. -(Lisa Demski) . . . the days seem to drag on, when there is not so much to do. -(Marie Putzer).

1. Lori Ohlrich works as a secretary at Century Capital. 2. Showing a customer the latest in fashion at Prange's is Kim Hielsberg. 3. The automotive department at Copp's gives Bob Lundt on-the-job experience. 4. Keeping records at Medalist Industries is one of Brenda Doemel's responsibilities. 5. Charlene Barden is also employed at Medalist as a part of Office Occupations Co-op. 6. Caring for plants and flowers at Hrnak's is part of Lynn Zentner's training.

Students Decide Future Plans

Malin, Martin, Joanna Trade

Joanna Jones

The British invasion hit West in the form of seventeen-year old senior Joanna Jones from Mary Tavy, England. Joanna was West's AFS student, and she stayed with the Barroso family. Her American sister Maria was also a senior at West. In addition to Maria, Joanna has a twenty-year old American sister named Mona, and two younger brothers in England, Timothy who is fifteen and Matthew who is twelve.

Joanna says that she really likes Oshkosh. It is bigger than Mary Tavy by quite a lot, considering that her hometown is a village with a population of about six hundred. She does, however, attend school in a neighboring town which is larger. Her school is drastically different from West. For example, while students there start elementary school — Primary School to them — at about the same age we do here, they graduate from high school — Comprehensive — at age sixteen. Their schedules run on a two-week timetable, so they never have the same class at the same time two days in a row. They are not given a choice in their classes until their third year of Comprehensive, when they are allowed to choose five classes in addition to the required two English classes and one math class which they must take every year. These classes last one hour and ten minutes each, and she has four classes a day plus lunch.

Joanna liked M-TV a lot, mainly because they don't have such a station in England and rarely get to see videos. She also loves American food, especially hamburgers, pizzas and hot dogs. Although they have these things in England, she feels they are not as good or as plentiful. The climate, however, is one thing she could do without. "It's so cold here!" she exclaimed.

While Joanna certainly likes Oshkosh, it is only natural that she would want to see other parts of the U.S. before returning to the country that gave us Def Leppard, New Wave and the Beatles. Where would she like to go? New York, Washington, and, of course, Disney World. Eventually she would also like to visit Germany.

A final difference between here and Mary Tavy is something that any self-respecting seventeen-year old girl would notice. She observed that the boys are better looking here and not as competitive with each other.

Sweden is a land of lakes and mountains, snow and skiing, and the home of Malin Brenklert, one of West's three foreign exchange students. Malin was a seventeen-year old senior who enjoys downhill skiing, wind surfing, and water skiing. She lived in Kalmar, which is a town with about the same population as Oshkosh and which is on Baltic Sea coast. Malin also admitted to liking her fifth hour Honors English class here at West the best of all her classes, although at home she preferred history. Also she really enjoyed gymnastics, a new experience for her in America, as her school doesn't have extracurricular sports and she'd never had the opportunity to become involved in it before.

Malin lived with the Schumachers here in Oshkosh, and had two American brothers, Jim and Scott, who were twenty-two and twenty-nine respectively. She said of them, "They are very special. I think I will miss them most of all."

West seemed to be "going Swedish" this year. You've already read about Malin Brenklert, and now meet another Swedish foreign student, Martin Hellmark. Like Malin, Martin was a senior and he also liked to downhill ski, a sport that is obviously very big in their homeland. Martin said that he usually goes skiing in Austria. But that this year he went to the Rocky Mountains, which he found comparable to the Alps. However, he also liked to go sailing and participate in races.

Martin stayed with the McFarlane family and had three American siblings, Chris, who was thirteen, Erin who was eight, and Mike, who was four. At home he had one sister, fourteen-year old Maria. He was sponsored by Rotary Youth Exchange, and was very glad that they gave him the opportunity to come here. Of the United States and Oshkosh, Martin said, "I like it very much here. Everybody is so nice, and who knows, in a couple of years I may be back to go to the University."

He, like Malin, admitted that there are many differences between here and Sweden. There are more apartments there with fenced-in yards, and where there are houses, they don't

Sweden, England For Oshkosh

However, one thing she will definitely not miss is her curfew.

Many things were different and new to Malin. For instance, there was her school. In Kalmar, she attended "college" which they call "gymnasium", and she had all of her classes with exactly the same people, although they did switch classrooms as we do. In addition, the driving and drinking ages are higher. In Sweden, the former is twenty and the latter is eighteen.

As far as music is concerned, Swedish kids listen to pretty much the same groups as we do here. Malin liked Duran Duran and The Human League.

Coming to West was an entirely new experience for her, but it was a good one. Because she liked people, she managed to meet a lot of them who contributed to her enjoyment of the United States. We welcomed her to our school and will miss her when she returns to Sweden.

stand nearly as close together as they do in Oshkosh. Martin came from a town called Vaxjo, which has the same number of people in it as there are in Oshkosh, but he thinks it is smaller area-wise.

He, too, went to "gymnasium", and has completed his first year already; he will begin the second upon his return. He agreed with Malin about the way his school is run, but added that they don't have as many school dances as we do. Kids in his town go to special places to dance on the weekends.

They also don't have the same holidays that we do. For example, they don't celebrate a Thanksgiving, naturally, but they do have a Swedish holiday called "ex Lucia" and they celebrate Midsummer.

Traeger Nature Center

The Carl Traeger Nature Center, a beautiful addition to our school, required the time of many people. The money gained from former principal Dr. Traeger's memorial helped to bring about the idea of the Nature Center. Carl Traeger had a great love for the beauty of nature. Considering his interest, teacher's meetings were held to discuss how to use the money from his memorial. Since more money was needed for plants and a greenhouse, the schoolboard agreed to give money for those purposes. Many people contributed their time and efforts in the designing and building of the Nature Center, including FFA members, horticulture classes, landscaping classes, art classes, the maintenance crew, and town members. O'Neil Honor Society members handled the dedication of the Carl Traeger Nature Center on October 6, 1983.

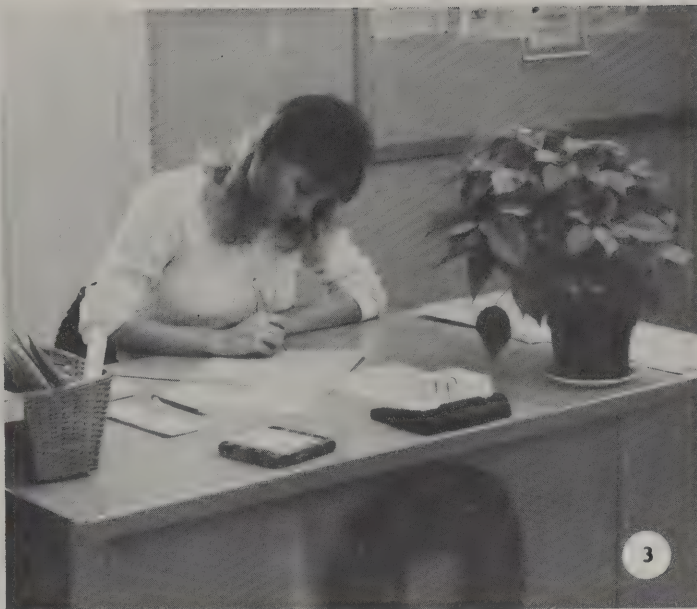

The Nature Center was not the only accomplishment for FFA members. The floriculture team of Julie Buehring, Chris Krueger, and Wendy Yoder placed 12th in the nation at the FFA convention in Kansas City, MO. They qualified for national competition by winning the state contest. At the state event, the girls had to take a written test, an identification test, and judge flowers and plants. Overall scores from teams were tabulated to see who won. To prepare for this contest, the FFA members viewed a computerized list of plants to practice identification.

HERO Helps at Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is a time for sharing, and the HERO club did just that. They baked 162 pumpkin pies for Father Carr to use at his Thanksgiving dinner. The club has done this in the past, but this was the first time under the direction of Mrs. Christine Kneip. Mr. Roger Schmidke, regular advisor of HERO, was in a car accident at the beginning of the year and was unable to return to school for many months. HERO club, which consists of fifteen members, took first, second, and fourth hours of the three days before Thanksgiving vacation to make those pies. Mrs. Kneip said, "I was surprised at how much was accomplished in that time." On Monday, the crusts were made, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the fillings were made and the pies were completed. "We had a good time making the pies because we knew it was for a good cause," said junior Kris Kosmer. "The project also gave the students experience in mass production," said Mrs. Kneip. Not only did HERO club make the pies, but they also sold calendars earlier in the year to raise money for the ingredients in the pies.

Other projects that the HERO club undertook were the baking cookies for the Indianfest, baking and selling nut breads for Christmas, or which they had 220 orders, and making a gingerbread house for a party at Pollack Alumni House.

HERO CLUB'S PUMPKIN PIES Yield: 162 pies

Pumpkin Filling

32 lbs., 6 oz. Sugar
16 Tbsp. + 1 tsp. Salt

Snowblast Boosts School Spirit

Did you ever wonder who could yell the loudest? For Snowblast, kids got a chance to try out their voices. Rick Ludwig of Carolyn Karl's team took first place with a bellow of +6 decibels. Yell Like Hell was an event added to Snowblast '84, of which Mr. Wollerman was originator and organizer. 22 teams were registered with more teacher participation than ever.

Val Potratz's Snowblast team captured first place with 84 points. There was a tie for second place of 77 points between captains Walter Williams and Julie Akin. Third place went to Sarah Green's team with 73 points.

Brian Salzer, Tom Wissink, Troy Durkee, Don Lemkuil, and Sarah Green all felt that the Innertube Slide down Garbage Hill was the best event of Snowblast. According to Tom Wissink, "it felt mushy- everybody was squished together." "It was a little scary at first," concluded Sarah Green. Sue Weyenberg felt that the Yell Like Hell was the best event. "It was interesting to get up and see how loud I could yell, but it was sort of embarrassing." The pyramid building was the favorite event of Vicki Miller. "It felt cold and wet." Paul Lehman thought that the toboggun run was the best event because, "It was wet and exhilarating." Dave Ehlke felt that the Log Saw was the best event, even though it was "a little tiring."

Sue Weyenberg joined a Snowblast team because she had fun on Snowblast last year. She thought that Snowblast "encouraged school spirit." Don Lemkuil thought that joining a Snowblast team would be "a good time." Vicki Miller joined a Snowblast team because, "I wanted to be with my friends."

"Snowblast is a good idea because it made noon hours a little less boring," concluded Don Lemkuil.

Places To Go - Hunting

HUNTING - FISHING

For many students, hunting and fishing were two of the most entertaining sports available. Hundreds of thousands of hunters and fishermen flocked to our nation's bountiful, natural lakes, marshes, and forests in search of that ten point, 240 pound buck, that ten pound walleye, or six pound mallard. There were tremendous opportunities to accomplish these goals in our own region.

A few had the privilege to go to Wyoming in search of mule deer and antelope, or to fish walleye and pike in Canada, but most found their reward locally. "Every year we bow and gun hunt near our cabin in Waupaca. There are a lot of big bucks and squirrels too," said junior Randy Boyce. Although this was a severe winter for hunting, with rain and sleet making an already difficult job worse, 230,477 deer were bagged in Wisconsin.

As in the past six years, Mr. Wollerman set up and ran the Big Buck and Doe Contest. Senior Garth Sawall turned out the buck with the largest number of points-nine-winning the senior class competition.

There are many reasons that hunters and fisherman endure many long and often unfruitful hours in the field and stream. "I'm always trying to out think the animal, to get the edge," said sophomore Tom Wissink. Being with your father and friends was another popular reason for weekend treks in the wild.

"Getting a deer is a good thing, but until I went archery hunting, I had never really seen much wildlife! Sitting in my stand, I could look down and see grouse, weasel, and all kinds of wildlife. Hunting gives people peace and quiet, and a chance to really enjoy the outdoors. I think it's just great," said Jim Wollerman. There was also the day after hunt, and nights in the cabin, with everyone talking about the beautiful buck or ten pound walleye that got away.

Fred,

You are quite a guy! I am so glad we have so much in common, like brotherly love, we both like to have a great song around.

THINGS TO DO

Greeting, my father, once again,
I've got things to do.
I have not time to sit here,
and relate my day to you.
I'm going out before I work,
and my homework must come first.
There's a test in math that I have to pass:
that subject is my worst.
I need to mend my jacket,
and call up a few friends,
and do my science project,
between aerobics and kneebends.
I know it's my turn for supper,
and my room is a royal mess.
I'll clean it up before I go shopping for my dress.
It's not that I don't love you,
It's just there's not that much to say.
Except that to get everything done,
I need seven more hours a day.
Now I have to watch the neighbor's kids,
they're going to the zoo.
I'd really love to sit and chat,
but I've got things to do.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Things To Do-Sports

The varsity football team started the season out with a loss against Green Bay Southwest 14-0, but came back the next week by beating Green Bay East 7-6. Jeff Faust commented, "the offensive squad moved the ball and had long drives, but we would lose control of the ball." This seemed to be the problem all year. Coach Grable remarked, "the low point of the season was the lack of offensive consistency."

The team ended its season with an overall record of 2-7 as they lost a close game to Menasha 6-7. Grable, Faust, and Mark Nielsen all agreed that the Menasha game was the most disappointing to lose in the whole season. The best played game of the season was the game against Appleton East. "Even though we lost 15-17, we played the whole game consistently," commented Grable. "The strength of the team was the defensive players who played tough all year," Grable said about the season.

Mark Nielsen said, "It was disappointing, and I felt we could have done better with all the talent we had and won more games."

Despite the disappointments and frustrations, Grable felt we have great expectations and more enthusiasm for next year. Grable stated, "Our goal will be to be a contender for the conference championship. A winning season will not be good enough."

Players selected for the all-conference team were: second team offensive center Bill Lind, second team all-conference defensive linebacker Scott Stadler, and defensive back Jeff Faust. Jon Groth was made both offensive tackle and defensive interior lineman second team and was awarded the Hartman Award at the sports banquet.

The Oshkosh West J.V. football team started out in September with a 3-0 record and ended up with a 4-5 record at the end of the season.

"The low point of the season," said Coach Gerhartz, "was the game against Kaukana when we dominated the first half, but went on to lose the game by one touchdown." Tom Wissink agreed that the game against Kaukana was tough while Craig Steege felt that Neenah was the hardest team in the conference to beat.

The coaches were proud of Rob Willeford and Scott Lind. Willeford, the quarterback, completed 50% of his passes, excellent for a J.V. quarterback. Scott Lind, the tight end, was the leading scorer, catching passes in at least six out of the nine games played. On defense, Lee Yoder and Rich Hawley were team top tacklers.

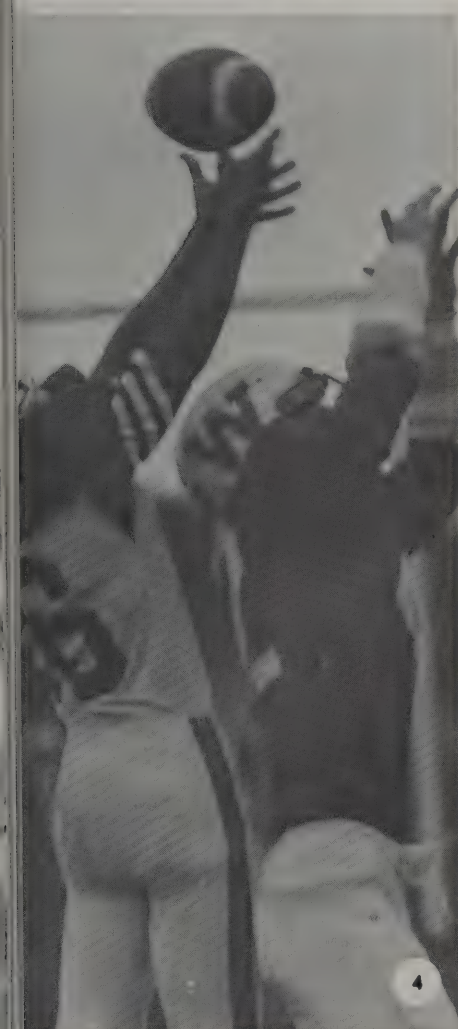

With the freshman football team winning three of the six games, Coach Wolleran said that the high point of the season was seeing 50 guys at the first practice and having all fifty finish the season. "Russ Keller and Don Lemkuil felt beating North was the high point of the season. The low point was losing to Kimberly 22-6. Wollerman said that this was the first freshman team in five years to have both size and depth. The freshman team had enough players so that if one person got hurt, there was always someone to take his place. This was also the first year that there were two complete teams - offense and defense.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Cross-country: 1: proceeding over country side (as across fields and through woods) and not by roads 2: of or relating to cross-country sports. (Webster's Seventh New Collegiate Dictionary)

If you happened to be driving down Jackson Avenue at about 4:00 some fine autumn afternoon, you might have seen a few motley looking young men and women from the Oshkosh West Cross Country team. They should have been running, but a few have been known to walk a block or two. In 1983 though, you would not have seen many walkers. Dedication was commonplace, and most everyone ran the dreaded ten mile route at least once.

And the hard work paid off. They consistently placed well in what Coach Russ Hoxtell considered one of the tougher conferences in the state. "We worked hard," he said, "and had no major injuries."

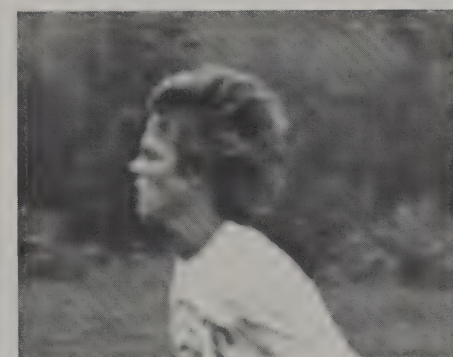

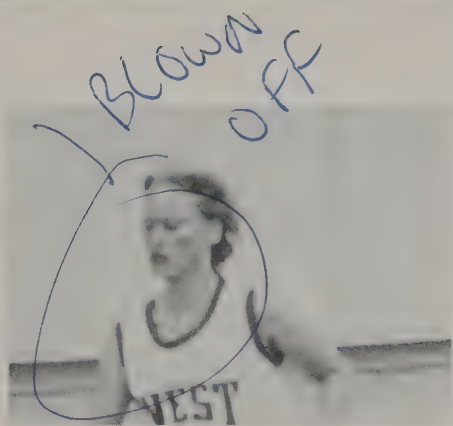

Names like Pierce Park, SPASH, and Terror Invitational, conjure up memories of steep hills, tough competition and hard races. There was New Berlin and its ten foot trench filled with murky brown water, that defied you to try to cross it without sliding face first into the muck. Who could forget Yahara Hills and its serene flowing meadows that provided a refreshing break from the urban blight before your race, but made you want to take a Flame thrower to and burn down every blade of grass after running the course? Faces wincing from pain, the smell of Cramergesic, and the sound of the starter's gun were common at a meet. The season was a good one with the team placing second at conference out of 8 teams.

Senior Steve Kubeny dropped minutes from his times of the previous year making him the most improved runner, and sophomore Cherste Johnson and junior Julie Akin placed high making them the biggest surprises of the season. But the brightest spot of the season was when senior Shannon Voss went to state. He also became only the third person in Oshkosh West cross-country history to become a four year letterman. "It was a good end to his career," Coach Hoxtell commented. "He really deserved to be there."

The team had an unofficial motto: "Pain is my friend." You might have overheard one of the runners saying this, trying to convince himself that the agony in his feet wasn't that bad.

1. With the finish line not far away, Shannon Voss and Steve Kubeny start their kick. 2. As he emerges from the woods, Steve Gordon takes the lead. 3. Pacing herself as she goes, Cherste Johnson heads for the finish line.

"I've got a lot of faith in this team," said soccer coach Fred Werner. Faith alone did not carry the soccer team into semi-sectional play before losing to rival Neenah, who was the state runner-up. In presectional play, West beat Stockbridge 4-3 in overtime, with Dave Ehlke scoring the winning goal. They advanced on to play Sheboygan North, which was considered by many of the players to be the best game of the season. When West finally met up with Neenah, morale was high despite two losses to Neenah during the regular season. Senior Kip Spanbauer noted, "We really wanted to kick: we thought there was a chance of an upset." Spirits sank as West ended their season with a disappointing 1-5 loss.

The team's conference record was a frustrating 5-6-1 after they had completed the first half of the season with four wins and two losses. The second half was almost a complete turn around with only one win, four losses and one tie. The route of the season paralleled the pattern of their games. "There were too many games in which we went flat in the second half, and it hurt our record," said senior Mike Rodman.

The second half was not the only thing giving them problems. "The team was young and I think inexperience was one of our biggest problems," stated Coach Werner. The varsity team was comprised of eleven sophomores, two juniors and five seniors.

There were many positive things said about the season. "We always had enthusiasm when we were playing," commented sophomore Chris Hageman. Rodman added, "We were a team to be contended with. We weren't going to be a pushover!"

High scorer for the season was Dave Ehlke with six goals. Scoring five goals apiece were Andy Schweda, Jamie McKeon and David Davies. Rodman led in assists with seven. Goalie Spanbauer definitely would win the award for endurance because he played every game in its absolute entirety. Receiving all-conference honorable mention were McKeon, Spanbauer and Garth Sawall.

The junior varsity team had a record of 2-5. "They have real potential and good morale; all they need is a little self-discipline," said Coach Ray Sebero. Matches were hard for the J.V. soccer team to come by. They played whenever their coach could find another J.V. team. "It was hard because we weren't sure of when we were going to play, and it made it harder to prepare for the game," said freshman Jay LeBeck. Their best game came against Neenah even though they lost. They were the only J.V. team in the conference to score against Neenah's J.V. team.

VOLLEYBALL

The varsity volleyball team crowned the season with a record of 13-12-1 and a conference record of 8-6, which gave them a third place standing in their conference. One of the setbacks the team had was that ten members of 13 girls are new to the team this year. Their loss in players from last year, nine seniors and two juniors, was the most in the conference.

Coach Sue Wasmuth thought that the girls did much better than expected because they were very enthusiastic, and everyone liked each other as a team. "We had a fun year, because the girls had a will to work and wanted to do well," stated Wasmuth.

The co-captains of the '83 Varsity Team were Kathy Butt and Sandy Langkau. Kathy Butt made first team all-conference and Brenda Peters, Sandy Langkau, and Kelly Albrecht were named honorable mention all-conference. Kelly Albrecht and Brenda Peters were named most improved players.

For the varsity, the toughest teams to beat were Kaukauna, the first opponent of the season, and Kimberly, whom they never beat. The Appleton West tournament and beating Neenah were the main highlights. Losing to Menasha in the regional tournament was one of the few disappointments for Coach Wasmuth and her team.

Under the direction of Coach Marilyn Gerrard, the junior varsity volleyball team had a 6-8 record. Like the varsity team, the J.V. team had the hardest time beating Kimberly and Kaukauna. Leslie Pelky was named most congenial, Janet Beck, Vicki Bearwald, and Leslie Pelky all tied for captain, and Karrie Beck and Julie Ffarek were most improved.

With the help of Coach Karen Pagel, the freshman volleyball team had a 7-3 record for the season and were second in their conference.

WRESTLING

The wrestling team was young and inexperienced, but they worked hard and compensated for that. In fact, it was the lower weight classed that usually carried them in the meets. The squad had to forfeit the top two weight classes, which was like starting most matches down 12-0.

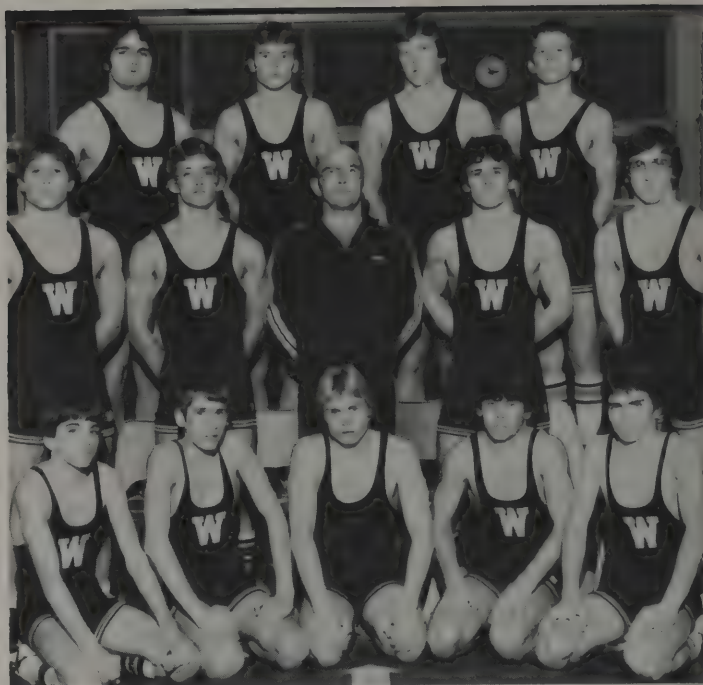

They had to overcome many obstacles, including the loss of eight team members do to suspensions, or to the wrestlers quitting. Despite all this, they managed to finish the season with a 7-5-1 record, and a 5th place conference finish.

"Team spirit was very strong, Craig Steege said, "every-one got along well, and that really held us together." Another strong point of the season was the many volun- teer coaches, "The coaches really helped us a lot. They always kept us going when we got down," stated Jim Hergert. Coach Tom Nadeau summed it all up. "The mo- rale was excellent but if you want to be boosted, the best way is to win more matches."

Senior Dan Lenz was the team's top wrestler and was rated 6th in his 132 pound class. He was also involved in an outstanding match against Berlin's Jeff Johnson which ended in a tie. "Dan had to get the take- down to tie with a few seconds left and he pulled it off," remembered Steve Lind.

The best wrestlers in their weight classes were: Bob Reese (98 pound); Stan Oien (105 pound); Cary Burns (112 pound); Steve Lind (119 pound); Doug Norton (126 pound); Dan Lenz (132 pound); Lance Nadeau (138 pound); Walter Williams (145 pound); Rich Hawley (155 pound); Todd Simons (167 pound).

The team showed a great deal of promise for future years. The freshman team went undefeated and the JV's posted an 8-1 record. The team will be losing only two team members to graduation. As Jim Hergert pointed out, "the learning stage is over, next year will be awesome."

CHEERLEADING

Five men joined the cheerleading squads this year, and one of them was the coach. Jim Wollerman, who was a cheerleader in high school himself, hoped to bring better organization and discipline to the program. According to Wollerman, the hardest thing about being a cheerleading advisor was, "finding out the difference between working with guys and girls. At practice, girls aren't as devoted as guys, but they give more enthusiasm throughout the game." Another difficult situation arose when seven cheerleaders had to be suspended because of violation of WIAA rules.

Several improvements occurred with the help of Mr. Wollerman. The varsity squad bought white uniforms with blue trim, and the general fund provided mats for the wrestling squad and socks for varsity and wrestling.

"I think Mr. Wollerman has really improved our squad by adding guy cheerleaders," commented Julie Akin. "We've gotten the crowd a lot more fired-up!" she added. "The crowd seems to respond very well to the addition of the guys," stated Sarah Green.

The guy cheerleaders for this year were Ken Levine, Chris Holm, Tim Baier, and Brian Salzer. Having the guys enabled the squad to attempt more elaborate stunts. "Hopefully with the addition of the guy cheerleaders, more people will come to the games," commented Cherste Johnson.

In the coming year Mr. Wollerman planned to make changes. He hoped to increase the squads of six cheerleaders to eight. The addition of soccer cheerleaders was also in the planning stages. This would enable more girls to participate in the sport of cheerleading.

BOYS' SWIMMING

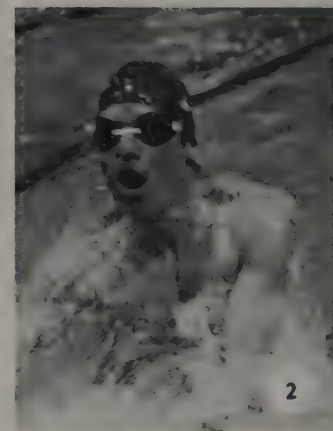

The boys' swim team had a fast start with a record of 3-0, defeating Plymouth, Menasha, and Ashwaubanon in their first three meets. But with expectations raised, the team was disappointed with a fourth place finish at conference, behind cross-town rival Oshkosh North. The 200 medley team of Mark Nielsen, Don Staerkel, Mark Miller, and Collin Krumm was anticipating swimming at the state meet on February 17, but finished second at sectionals, missing state qualifications by two seconds. "We didn't have the depth we've had in past years," stated captain Mark Nielsen, "and our spirit wasn't the best, but everyone improved from the beginning of the season."

A new addition was made to the pool equipment this year. Electronic timing that automatically took splits and determined place was shared between North and West. Both the boys' and girls' teams raised money, with car washes and donut sales, to help pay for the system that cost almost $5000.

Keith Koch set a school record in diving, 275.80, and placed third in sectionals, which sent him to state. "Keith is really talented," said Coach Zitzelsberger, "He really deserves to be there." Don Staerkel set school records in the 100 breast stroke, 100 butterfly, and the 200 individual medley. Coach Jim Zitzelsberger took ninth in the coach's race at the Two Rivers Invitational. Place was determined by length of belt, age, amount of hair on head, and finish in the race. "He really deserved it," commented co-captain Todd Eiden.

The Oshkosh West girls' swim team took the conference by surprise by placing first, defeating Appleton West by 43 points. The team was second in the sectional meet, losing to Ashwaubanon by 50 points. The only other loss West had all season was against Ashwaubanon. They were also second in the Terror Relays, a medal meet.

State qualifiers were the 400 free relay team which consisted of Andi Sawall, Robin Harmon, Monica Winkler, and Kelly Lewellyn. Lewellyn also went in the 50 and 100 freestyle. The 400 relay took 15th place while Lewellyn took 14th in the 50 and 13th in the 100 yard.

Breaking school records were Andi Sawall in the 100 yard fly with a time of 1:07.0, Missy McCreery in the 100 yard breaststroke with a time of 1:18.4 and the 400 relay with the time of 3:59.88. Breaking freshman records were Sawall in the 100 yard fly, 200 individual medley, and the 50 free and McCreery in the 100 yard breaststroke and 200 free. Rose Kleveno broke the freshman record in diving with a score of 179.7 in six dives. Lewellyn also broke the conference record in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 56.53.

The captains for this year's season were senior Tricia Nielsen, senior Robin Harmon and diving captain junior Jamie Weber. People receiving awards at the sports banquet were Lewellyn for most valuable swimmer and Karen Koch for most improved swimmer.

The junior varsity team finished their season with a 9-11 record in the conference and 11-11 record over all.

GOLF AND TENNIS

The boys' golf team and the girls' tennis team both made appearances at the WIAA state tournaments. The linksters placed third at state, with the best individual score coming from Kevin Roe who placed 6th. In tennis, the duo of Shelly Weitz and Sherry Taylor lost in the second round of the tourney to Madison Lafollete- a disappointment after their 7th place state finish last year.

The golf team earned a state berth after placing second in the sectional meet. Coach Nadeau felt that the state tournament was an attainable goal for his team at the start of the season. He said, "Most people won't remember that we beat Appleton West and Oshkosh North during the season, but they will remember our presence at state." At state, Appleton West and Oshkosh North placed 1st and 2nd respectively.

The golfers placed 4th in the conference. Senior varsity member John Meyer stated, "It was a good season because we went to state, even though we took third. Our conference play was disappointing because we were not very consistent. Sometimes only one person would shoot a good round."

The girls' tennis team faced tough conference play as they finished 4-10. Overall they were 6-10. Coach Mark Smits remarked, "In four different conference meets the scores were 4-5, which means those meets could have gone either way. The team didn't have as much experience as other teams in the conference." Senior Shelly Weitz was selected to the all-conference team. Sherry Taylor received honorable mention.

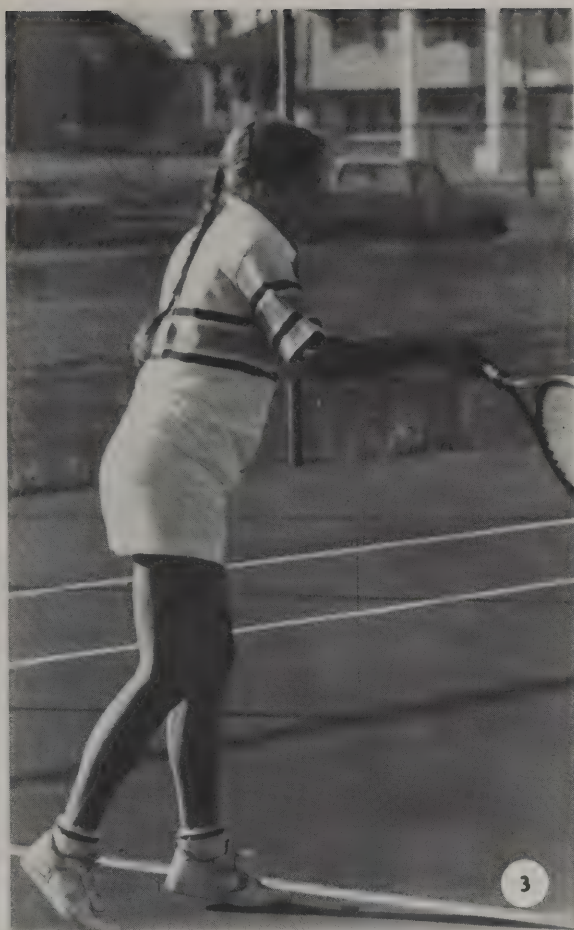

The girls' golf team set two goals at the beginning of the season. One was as a team to break a total of 200, and the other was that the golfers from last year improve their average for nine holes by five strokes. Coach Potterton said, "Everybody reached her goal, and as a team, we did, too."

Sophomore Peggy Mand was voted unanimously to the FVA all-conference team, the only non-senior chosen. She said, "We all did well, considering the lack of experience on the team." She felt the tournaments in the summer helped her because she was playing in a competitive atmosphere with pressure similar to that of the season.

BOYS' VARSITY BUCKETS

The Oshkosh West varsity basketball team ended their season with a 6-13 record and a sixth place in conference standings. The big win was defeating Lourdes in the Holiday Classic, an important boost for team spirit. The major weakness of the team was "the defense", "We just gave up too many points" said Coach Greg Weisse. The major strength was in free throw shooting in which they were third in the conference.

Coach Weisse singled out four outstanding players: Sam Peppler, Darren Roslansky, Mark Patchak, and Steve Lautenschlager. Sam Peppler was noted for his hustle on the court and during practice; Darren Roslansky for his assists and leadership; Mark Patchak for his scoring record (first in the team and fourth in conference); and Steve Lautenschlager for his rebounding (first on the team and third in conference).

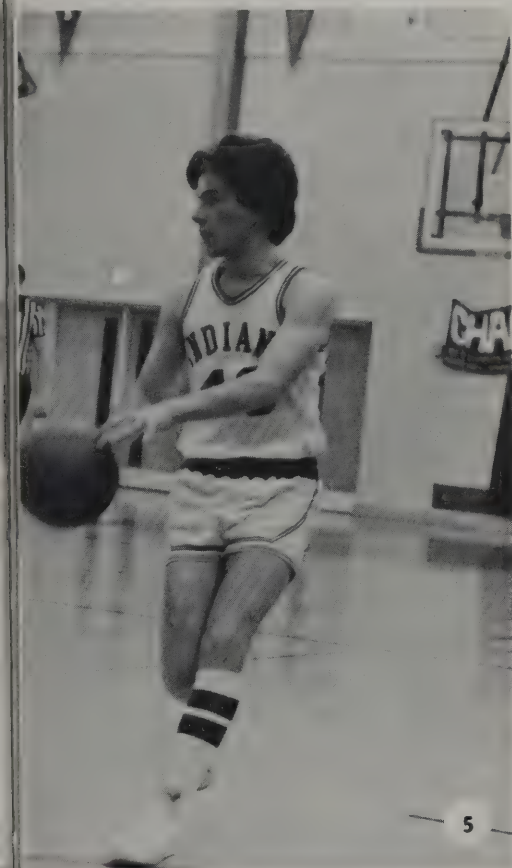

The best played game was against Appleton West where Jay Peppler said, "We lost by 4 or 5 but we played our hearts out." High point of the season was the last few weeks of practice according to Mike Heinbigner because everybody had worked hard and intensely. The lowpoint of the season was the crushing 81-40 loss to Neenah.

The team's chances for a winning season next year, Peppler felt, were good, "We have 4 out of 5 starters returning, and we should have a good bench with all the sophomores coming up." Peppler added, "Coach Weisse is really building the basketball program at Oshkosh West."

1. Darren Roslansky breaks toward the basket against Oshkosh North. 2. The varsity basketball team circles around Coach Weisse to hear the new game plan. 3. FROSH/ J.V. BASKETBALL

The freshman blue team ended up the season with an 8-4 record, giving them a third place in their conference. This was the first time since 1977 that a West basketball team had a winning season.

The season peak for Coach Strasser "was taking the series against Neenah and North, winning 3 out of the 4 games played." The team worked well together, and when combined with the white team next year, Coach Strasser looked forward to a good T.V. team.

The freshman white team's success came in winning 3 games of the 12 games played. Coach Duex thought the loss against North Green was the low point of the season. "We lost too many close games and that hurt us a lot," said Ray Phlanzer. The bright moment of the season was beating Neenah Red on their home court.

The J.V. basketball team finished up 6-12. "The high point of the season came when we beat Neenah, breaking the Rocker's 28 game losing streak," said Coach Asuma. "Never having a complete team and having players injured, suspended or quitting was a great setback for the team." Rob Willeford felt that the 5 to 6 game losing streak was when the team hit rock bottom. Troy Ehnert and Mike Anderson were cited for rebounding while Rob Willeford and Dave Ehlke were mentioned as good team playmakers. Scott Lind and Craig Copp played good team ball. The freshman players that were moved up helped the team towards the end of the season.

1. Dave Ehlke looks to pass inside. 2. Brian Rumlow prepares to come in while Mike Anderson checks for an open man. 3. While John Weber moves for position underneath, Brian Ronson takes a jumpshot. 4. Russ Keller shoots over a Menasha defender.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

The J.V. and Varsity gymnastics teams finished their dual meets three and two. Once again Neenah and Kimberly proved to be their toughest competition. First year coach, Lisa Marciniak commented about the year, "I enjoyed coaching and I learned a lot. I would like to continue coaching in the upcoming years."

At the beginning of the season the team had thirty-eight girls, at the end, only sixteen. "We had a lot of freshman who were disillusioned. Gymnastics wasn't what they expected. We also lost a lot of girls because they had too many extra-curricular conflicts," stated Marciniak.

There were several records broken and tied this year. Freshman Ann Mauritz tied the J.V. vault record with a 7.6. Senior Tricia Nielson tied the bar record with a 8.2. The team vaulting score was broken with a 23.55 and the bar record was broken with a 23.7. The best dual meet this year was against the cross town rival, North; 100.24 to 95.39.

The team tied for fourth place at the conference meet, which was hosted by West. Going on to regionals, four-year letter winner Tricia Nielsen received a 7.65 on floor exercise, and 7.95 on bars. Junior Monica Winkler received a 7.75 on vault. These scores enabled them to advance to the sectional meet.

At the sectional meet, Nielsen scored a 7.45 on bars, and a 7.8 on floor. Winkler scored a 7.5 on vault. "Even though our coach was new, we achieved a lot. It was a big accomplishment to qualify two team members for the sectional meet," concluded Winkler.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

"The most important game to win was against Menasha for the regional championship. We had lost to them one week before by six points, and we knew we could beat them if we played up to our potential.", commented girls' varsity basketball coach Tom Wagner. The team won 51-33. The girls defeated Neenah (63-48) to advance to the game in Menasha. These regional wins were particularly significant because after the team went 4-1 in January, they needed to rebound from losing four straight in February. The win over Menasha advanced the team to sectional play for the second straight year.

Overall the teams' record was 10 wins and 11 losses. The conference record was 6-8. Five of the teams' eleven losses were to Kimberly and Appleton West, two teams who reached the state tournament. The fact that both these teams went to state and that Appleton West reached the semi-finals shows that West faced tough conference play throughout the season.

Seniors Kelly Albrecht and Kathy Butt agreed that winning the regional tournament was the most enjoyable event of the season. They also agreed that the team had an element which made everything run smoother — friendship. Albrecht said, "We all got along well, and that helps the team."

Butt was voted by the FVA coaches to second team all-conference, and teammates Albrecht and junior Sandy Langkau were selected for honorable mention. Butt placed second in scoring (averaging 17 points per game), and fifth in rebounding. Albrecht placed ninth in scoring (averaging 12 points per game), fifth in free-throw percentage, and 15th in rebounding. Langkau placed tenth in scoring (averaging 10 points per game), and second in rebounding. Coach Wagner cited Karen Koch as the most improved player.

The junior varsity team amassed a record of 12 wins and 6 losses. In the conference, they were 8-6. The team set a goal to improve their rebounding in each game. They succeeded, with sophomores Wende Woldt and Peggy Mand pulling down the most. Jenny Rickert led the team in assists. Coach Rulseh said, "The team kept improving steadily throughout the season." The leading scorers were Leslie Pelky and Angie Handler. Freshman Jill Koch was cited as the all-around most improved player.

The freshman team compiled a record of 4 wins and 8 losses. The team concentrated on the fundamentals of the game and man-to-man defense. Sally Cady and Nancy Young grabbed the most rebounds while Cheryl Promer helped the team with good ball handling.

SPORTS OUT-OF-SCHOOL

Sporting events have been popular with high school athletes for a long time. Most high schools offered sports such as football, basketball, and baseball, and many offered more uncommon sports, such as swimming, wrestling, and cross country running.

However, sports were not confined to schools alone. There were dozens of popular extracurricular sports in which students participated, such as skiing, bicycle racing, various ice and water sports, and some indoor sports. One popular indoor sport was racketball, a quick moving game and tough to excel in. Sophomore Jim Jero was presently ranked second in Wisconsin in the 18 and under junior class.

Other people tried new sports because they look interesting. "The Martial Arts improves confidence, coordination, fighting skill for self defense, and sharpens observation, as well as being a great art. All of the martial arts require many hours of extremely hard work to master," said sophomore Ben Salas.

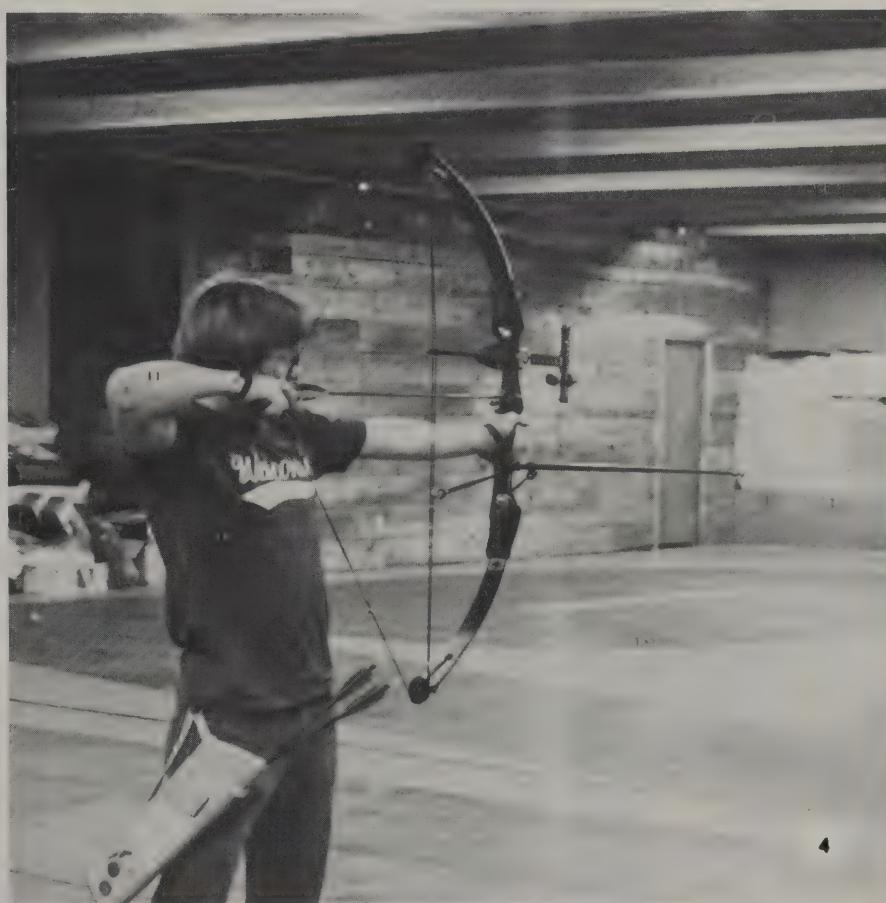

To become competitive in sports, the athlete must struggle through many hours of tedious practice. Costs alone can drive some people out of many sports. BMX and multi-speed bikes were often as expensive as 600 to 1500 dollars. Most often encouragement in such costly sports came through either family or friends. "You really need the support of your family to become active in bike racing. You can't just do it on your own," said junior Ray Reinders. His favorite sport, bicycle road racing, was an expensive and very challenging sport. Transportation could also be a problem. Sophomore Tom Wissink was forced to travel to Neenah a few nights a week to play hockey.

Sports such as trapshooting and archery were great practice for hunting. These sports required a special skill that came with many hours of what was often frustrating practice. "The pursuit for perfection keeps you coming back. You have to be a glutton for punishment," remarked junior Jon Strupp, on trapshooting.

1. Sophomores Chuck Latimer (top) and Ben Salas demonstrate Operation Meltdown. 2. There are many stunts that you can do on a BMX bike. Freshman Joe Shunk begins a tabletop. 3. Doing what he does best, junior Ray Reinders displays his racing clothes and bike. 4. Competition archery is a precision sport. Displaying his compound bow with scope and stabilizing bars is sophomore Steve Raddatz. 5. Layers of specially padded clothing, helmet and skates prepare sophomore Tom Wissink for a game of ice hockey. 6. In a game of racketball, sophomore Jim Jero catches a rebound.

Cabbage Patch Kids Cause Huge

The Plight of the Cabbage Patch Kid

Unlike most people when Christmas rolls around, I can't stand to shop. Luckily I was endowed with only one jewel of a sister, so therefore, I had only one present to purchase. As I soon found out, even purchasing one present was a monumental task.

I know! A Cabbage Patch doll — just what she wanted, and I wouldn't even have to return it. Unfortunately, every other kid presently residing in the continental United States wanted one too. After standing in four feet of snow waiting for the bus, I began to think of giving Little Freak Face my last year's gym socks. They should fit her by now. My thoughts were interrupted as I was suddenly buried. Déjà vu! No, not homework; snow. The bus had arrived. The doors opened and I was propelled amidst a sea of shoppers into store after store after store. No remains of Cabbage Patch Kids could be found. Even the names had been changed to Chatty Cathy and Baby-Cries-a-Lot. Discouraged, I turned and heard a distant rumble. The Manager screamed in panic. Eight Cabbage Patch Kids were being made into slaw. The shoppers, in their eagerness, were unknowingly wringing the necks of the Cabbage Patch dolls. I went home. The situation was impossible. If my sister was going to get a Cabbage Patch doll, it was up to Saint Nick.

PEOPLE TO SEE

Hello, Father, good-bye for now,
 For I have people to see.
 I'd like to stay and chat a bit,
 but there are people waiting for me.
 There's Billy, and Jeffy, and Robby and Sue, and Gina and Jackie and Ted.
 We're getting together at Susie's house,
 or maybe Gina's instead.
 I'll have no time tomorrow;
 I've a meeting with Mr. Fratt, and then a talk with my counselor,
 plus a conference with Coach after that.
 Mr. Lynch has called a rehearsal,
 so I'll be busy after school.
 At noon Mrs. Rogge is waiting:
 her tests are made up as a rule.
 I'm having trouble with Chemistry, so Mr. Wilson I must consult.
 I hope that will improve my grades,
 and help me pass as a result.
 Don't worry, Dad, I'll be in on time.
 I promise I won't be late.
 But I have places to go and people to see,
 and these people just won't wait.

Kelley Kotenberg

Student Visits Lounge

Have you ever heard of the Vern LaMay Memorial Lounge? Possibly you don't know where that room is. Would you believe — yes, ladies and gentlemen, it's true — the LaMay Lounge and the faculty lounge are one in the same.

Let's take a peek inside and see what's going on. The door must be opened very carefully so as not to disturb anyone, since we're only students and we're not supposed to be here. But since we're here anyway, let's take a look around.

In one corner we see Mrs. Kaulfuss and Mr. LaPoint, who trade off each week buying the Milwaukee Sentinel, doing the crossword located in that periodical.

On one side of the room, near the pop machine, we see a lone cribbage board. There is no one around it now, and it looks quite desolate. However, as we look overhead we see a plaque naming winners of old (Bill McCarthy 1980, Judy Kaulfuss 1981, Cecil Streeter 1982), and we realize that during noon hours when the teachers are off duty, it's the center of activities for those who like to indulge in the old English game of skill.

As we continue looking around, we see teachers with their papers spread out all over several of the tables. Since there is plenty of room to do this sort of stuff, many teachers prefer the lounge to work on new assignments or to correct old ones.

As we tour nonchalantly about, we have a feeling of serenity, and we might suppose that nothing unusual ever happens. We would be right. If we were to come in here at 7:30, we would see that every teacher was sitting in the same spot day after day. It's as if an unwritten law compels them to sit in an assigned spot all the time.

If we were to go in during noon hour, we would see a normal setting of adults eating there. Only one thing would stick out. All the male teachers are sitting on one side of the room, and all the female teachers on the other. What would we hear? If we got there at the right time, we might hear Mr. Schlindwien and Mr. LaPoint taking opposing sides on anything that might come up.

I hope this has familiarized you with the Vern LaMay Memorial Lounge. It's a nice place to visit, but ...

Am glad I got to know you. Hope to see you again this summer. Finally on out, you next. Have a great summer, takes care of herself. Best luck in the future. Love, Joe LaPoint

Mr. Lee T. Blows The Whistle

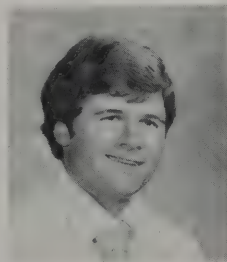

For twenty years, social studies teacher Leon Thompson has been refereeing football, basketball, and volleyball games. For the previous two years he has been a member of the Sawdust City Officials Association, an organization which he helped to found, that helps train officials. "The reason we started it is that there is a shortage of officials. We try to get young people interested in officiating, usually people that were once high school athletes themselves."

Running an organization and being a referee took a lot of time. Mr. Thompson spent about four nights a week keeping peace and order at high school athletic events, and countless hours in related activities. His wife of thirteen years, Wendy, was supportive of his officiating as were his three sons, Brent-8, Jeremy-5, and Benjamin-3.

"I don't do this for the money," he said; "it's a nice second income, but I do this because I enjoy it." And thanks to people like Leon Thompson, we too, can enjoy our favorite sporting activities.

Board Tries To Resolve Closings

Students at North and West went home for Christmas vacation in a happier mood than usual. The Oshkosh School Board had just decided to keep both high schools open after careful deliberation about whether or not to combine them to one high school building. Public opposition seemed to be the only way to save neighborhood schools. As the months went by, the high schools were not the only schools threatened by cutbacks. The school board also proposed the closings of Jacob Shapiro, Sunset, Smith, and Green Meadow over the next six years. One option was to combine at least one middle school grade with a high school.

"I will not support a grade 8 to 12 high school," said Joseph Bauer. "Some attempt should be made to increase the capacity of our high schools, but not by putting eighth graders in them."

Another alternative was to open portions of West, Jacob Shapiro, or Roosevelt to the Fox Valley Technical Institute. Students attending Jacob Shapiro could be transferred to Franklin or South Park Middle School. Fifty percent of Shapiro's students were bused. Built in 1970, Shapiro was not in a growth area. It was seen as a very salable facility. The closing of Shapiro would mean an annual cost reduction of $85,087, without considering revenues from sale/lease of the building or wage and fringe benefits paid out. Parents disputed the closing of Shapiro by means of letters to the Northwestern, and high attendance at PTA and school board meetings.

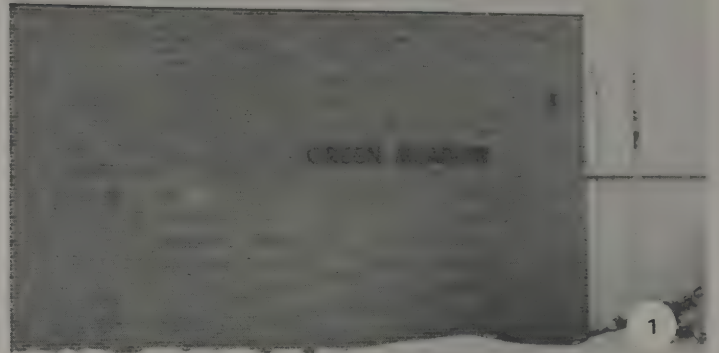

Smith School also received support, as a number of parents wore cardboard buttons which said "Save Smith School". Located in a large residential area, Smith was seen as an attractive feature for people moving to Oshkosh. If Smith were closed, this area would be without a school. Daily transportation to and from school would be difficult. The relocation of elementary contents and playground equipment would cost a total of $49,450.

The closing of Sunset School would save the least amount of money, $46,080. Students now attending Sunset would be transferred to Read Elementary and Merrill Middle Schools. The added students would increase Read and Merrill's capacity to 85%. The closing of Shapiro, Smith, and Sunset would save an annual amount of $207,260, assuming the facilities would dissolve.

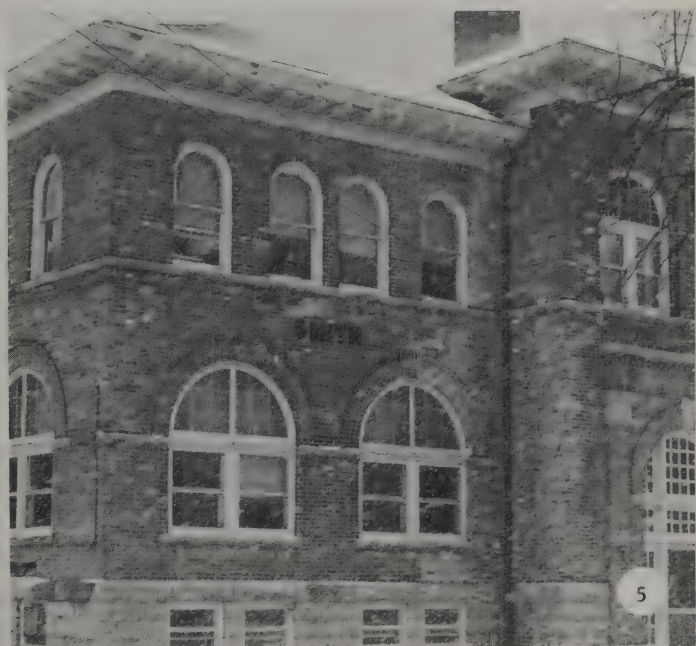

Green Meadow could not be closed and housed at South Park along with Smith and Shapiro, as suggested without straining South Park's facilities. However, the 94 projected K-5 Green Meadow students could be transferred intact to Roosevelt. The five year building maintenance needs ($99,100) of Green Meadow would be saved if the school were closed. Concerned citizens accused the school board of drifting toward larger elementary schools. They considered smaller elementary schools better since this is where the groundwork for future adults' skills in reading and math are laid.

On Wednesday, February 29, 1984, the board decided not to decide. No board member wanted to close any particular school, and with elections coming up in April, any decision made might not have been binding

- Kelly Sedlachek

Schools the school board considered closing included: 1. Green Meadow. 2. Jacob Shapiro. 3. Jefferson. 4. Lincoln. 5. Smith. 6. Members of the board consider closings at a meeting. As a decision drew near, more and more parents attended meetings.

Freshman Andi Sawall has only been swimming for three years and has accomplished a lot. This year she has already broken three freshman records, the school record in the 100 yard butterfly, and went to state with Monica Winkler, Robin Harmon, and Kelly Lewellyn for their recordbreaking 400 yard free-style relay.

Andi's plans are to keep on swimming throughout high school and make it to the nationals. Andi's goal is to get a swimming scholarship and attend college.

Don Lemkuil is a part of the Oshkosh Youth Symphony, and plays third stand bass. Don began playing bass in the sixth grade, and has taken private lessons for two years. He is also involved in West's orchestra, where he is first stand.

"I think that playing bass is fun. Sometimes it can be challenging; especially in Youth Symphony," remarked Don. When asked if he would continue after high school, he replied, "... it's a possibility; I might like to play in a jazz or dance band. In the near future I might also be interested in playing in the Oshkosh Symphony."

Don is also involved in other school activities. He was a quarterback on the football team, and a starter on the freshman basketball team. "Being involved in many activities is hard work, but is rewarding in the end," summarized Don.

Mark Wu first became interested in computers a couple of years ago when he asked for a home video game and his parents suggested he get a home computer. Once he mastered the planned programs on his computer, he became bored with the terminal. Soon he had bought two additional computers and started writing his own programs. His best program is an ancient mathematics game, "Nim With a Vengeance," which took him three months to create.

He has also taken two college classes on computer language. Mark works on his computers only after all his school work is finished. He explained, "Once I start working, I don't want to stop because I lose track of my ideas."

Jeff Day has been involved in scouting for seven years. He earned his Arrow of Light while he was a Webelo. He is a member of the Ceremony and Dance Team and is an ordeal member of the Order of the Arrow. Since he began scouting, Jeff has been involved in numerous scouting activities.

In November, Jeff became an Eagle Scout. It is the highest honor a Boy Scout can earn. Jeff's Eagle Service Project involved the research, drawing, painting varnishing and framing of a Biblical Time Line, covering 2000 years of the Bible.

"In the future I might like to do some leadership work for other Boy Scouts," concluded Jeff.

If I could spend a week end with anyone I would choose . . . Burt Reynolds — I would like to go riding around in his car. (Steve Brewer) . . . T. H. White — He is my favorite author and a great politician. (Tim Gerritsen) . . . Don Nelson — He is the coach for the Bucks and I like basketball. (Joe Borgardt) . . . Mr. Rodgers — I like his show. (Steve Solomon) . . . Neal Peart — the drummer for Rush, because he could give me tips, and I could listen to him play for hours. (Kal Spanbauer) . . . James Bond — I like all of his stuff in the movies . . . (Scott Cartwright) . . . John Wayne — I like him as a cowboy. (Leslie Rowe) . . . Mr. T — I want to get my hair cut like his. (Tom Counts) . . . Brent Mushberger — I am hoping to get into the field of journalism. (Mark Krueger) . . . Eddie Murphy — I am a big fan of his, and I would like to meet him some time. (Lynne Herdina) . . . Bruce Lee — He was one of the greatest people in the Martial Arts. (Brian Kramer) . . . Richard Petty — I love race cars. (Todd Nellis) . . . President Reagan — I want to give him a piece of my mind. (Curt Schroeder) . . . The President — It would be a thrilling experience, I'm sure. (Jeff Singstock) . . . David Lee Roth — He is multi-talented. (Tracy Sievers). David Bowie — Because he is so cool. (Beth McHugh) Loverboy — They are great and I like their songs. (Patty Parsons) . . . Matt Dillion — He is so cute. (Chanda Anderson) . . . Tony Geary — He could tell me what is going to happen on General Hospital. (Julie Bauer) . . . My dad — He lives in California and I only see him a couple times a year. (Devin Gaymon) Eddie Murphy —

He is my favorite comedian and seems like one heck of a guy. (Troy Grunwald) . . . Scott Baio — He is cute and seems very nice. (Sue Drumwright) . . . Ralph Macchio or Matt Dillion — I am sick of just seeing them in a box. (Wendy Gelhar) . . . 101 Alaskan Huskies, 2 German Shephards, 1 Polar bear, and 1 Saint Bernard in Alaska. (Brian Blomberg) . . . Joe Elliot — He has good style, is cool, and would like to see him perform. (4 sophomores) . . . Michael Jackson — Favorite singer and would like to learn to dance like he does. (2 sophomore girls) . . . Sylvester Stallone — He is super cool and was neat in Rocky 1, 2, and 3. (2 sophomores) . . . Rick Springfield — He is cute and a favorite singer (5 sophomores) . . . Van Halen or Def Leppard — They are great and I like their tunes. (5 sophomores) . . . Tom Selleck — He has a great body and is cool. (6 sophomore girls) . . . John Stamos — Because he is cool, sexy, and cute. (10 sophomore girls). Ronald Reagan — So I could sit down and rationally talk to him about nuclear war, welfare, the U.S.S.R., and our incompetent judicial system. (Gretchen Schmelz) . . . Andropov and Reagan — So we can start a nuclear disarmament right away. (Leah Lechleiter) . . . Sarah Percil — She gets to travel a lot. (Diane Faust) . . . My parents — I would like to get to know them better than I do now. (Missi Oesterreich) . . . Journey — it is my favorite group and I would like to see them. (Lisa Eichhorst). Blackie on General Hospital — He's so cool and he looks interesting. (Ellen Upham) . . . Albert Einstein — He's so educated. (Jess Running).

Q-Bert, Air Force Involve Sophs

On Tuesday, August 19, 1983, Jeff Crombie began his challenge of the world record of the video game Q-Bert. Richard Crombie, Jeff's father explained, "When he left the house he said, 'I might not be back tonight.' When I asked him what he meant, he said, 'I might be going for the world record today.' I thought he was just kidding, but later on that evening, someone from the arcade called and explained that Jeff was close to breaking the world record."

Jeff and a few of his friends persuaded the owner of Cap'n Video to buy Q-Bert by promising that Jeff would try to break the record. Jeff had been practicing since the beginning of the year, yet he didn't have to spend a lot of money because he could play for a long time on one quarter.

The world record listed in Joystick magazine was 17,899,325 points. Jeff beat this record with over 18,000,000 points. Jeff played the game for 36 hours and stopped soon after he broke the record.

In an interview for the Northwestern, Jeff said, "It's mostly reflexes. Every little guy has a different noise. You get to know the sound. After a while you get a feel for the machine."

"When you go to the Air Force Academy you get one of the best educations you can have," stated Kelly Fores. This is one of the reasons Kelly's goal is to continue her education at the Air Force Academy.

Kelly has already started preparing to achieve her goal. She is involved with the Boy Scouts Aviation Explorers and is investigating the physical, scholastic and other requirements of the Academy. "I would like to become a pilot, but it's very hard to do," explained Kelly.

"I have my whole life mapped out, but I don't feel like I'm missing out on anything", said Gretchen Schmelz. Gretchen is a very goal oriented person and plans to attend Harvard and eventually medical school. "All my life I've wanted to prove to my parents and others that I can succeed," Gretchen explained.

The things Devin Gaymon likes most about West are the many activities students can enjoy. "All the different clubs, sports, intramurals, operetta, and other activities at West really make it what it is," remarked Devin.

Devin has played soccer for two years and was a member of the track team during his freshman year. This year he has a lead in the operetta and he also sings with the Madrigals. "People need to take advantage of high school times, because otherwise we are just wasting time by not getting involved", said Devin.

At times Devin feels pressed for time with sports, homework, and his activities, yet he still finds time to ski, play racquetball, and spend time with his family and friends. "I'd really like to see more people involved with school activities", noted Devin.

Alda, Murphy Tops With Juniors

If I could spend a week end with anyone, I would choose . . . Donny Osmond — I love his socks. (Tina Paulson) . . . The Governor of Wisconsin — To tell him what I think of the drinking age. (Scott Mateyka) . . . Neil Armstrong — To talk about the moon. (Fred Sheehy) . . . Don Shala — I admire and respect him, he's the greatest football coach. (Bruce O'Neil) . . . God — He has so much knowledge. (Elizabeth Krueger). Alan Alda — He does not like war. (Brian Green) . . . Aldo Nova — I think that Aldo is a very accomplished musician and his style of dressing, singing, and writing is different from any other musician. (Todd Johnston). The coolest looking junior — It would be the perfect day. (Ann Schmidt). I wouldn't want to spend the whole day with anyone famous, because they are just like other people and the only difference is that their talents have been discovered. (Teresa Wolff). Walt Disney — He was a brilliant man, and it sounds as if he had a great personality. (Bill Olson). Ronald Reagan — I would like to see what a president does each day. (Kelly Ford). Elvis Presley — I would like to talk to him and listen to what he has to say. (Rick Lett) Steven Hayes — Because he is the only American Ninja. (Derek Dahlke). Eddie Murphy — He is very funny. (Rob Ristow). Sylvester Stallone — He is a great actor and I have always liked him. (Adriana Roberts). Burt Reynolds — He is the greatest stuntman. (Russell Peck). John Stamos — He is cute and looks like he would be fun to be with. (4 juniors). Scott Baio — He is tall, dark, foxy, and can play his roles well. (10 junior girls). Robin Yount — He's the greatest Milwaukee Brewer. (Corinne Prein). Barry Tuckwell — To get an all-day horn lesson. (Lisa Grunloh). Clint Eastwood — He is handsome and in excellent shape for his age. (Karen Faust). Richard Pryor — He's really funny. (Michael Heinbigner). My friends — it seems like we never have enough time for them with school and work. (Stacy LeBeck). Dave Grant — I could learn a lot from him and really grow from it. (James Wilber). Mikhail Barishnikov — He's a professional and I like him. (T. Tollard)

Goldthwaite, Elsinger, Smith

Ever since Paul Smith was young, he has dreamed of flying an airplane. It wasn't until after a memorable experience that he knew that he could achieve this goal.

"It was right after my uncle received his pilot's license and took me up, that I knew I was going to learn how to fly. I was 15 years old then," Paul explained. Paul paid for his lessons with Basler's Flight Service by working on his grandmother's farm during the summer.

Paul's hard work paid off in March, 1984, when he received his official pilot's license.

"I'm not exactly where the future will take me, but I might be interested in commercial flying," he stated. This may be difficult, however, as Paul has a minor color perception problem.

No matter what problems there may be, though, after logging more than 50 hours, Paul Smith is not about to give up his goal.

Music plays an important part in Linda Elsinger's life. In the sixth grade, Linda started playing the flute in the school band. She really enjoyed it and wanted to keep improving, so she began to take private lessons in the eighth grade. She also participated in the Solo and Ensemble Festivals.

"Solo and Ensemble is a great growing experience for me," stated Linda.

This past year Linda participated in the Honor Band, a special band for high school students that is sponsored by the university.

Through the Honor Band, Linda was recommended and accepted to go on the 1985 summer American Musical Ambassadors European Tour. Linda and other students will tour many countries in Europe and play in seven to ten concerts while they are there.

In the future Linda plans to continue playing her flute and someday she hopes to be a flute teacher.

"If I can be half the teacher my teacher is, I will have accomplished a lot," concluded Linda.

Jeff Faust has been on the football team for three years, and this year he was picked as defensive back for second team All-Conference. He was the only Junior picked from West.

Jeff was also a member of the Varsity track team. His best events were the sprints and the long jump. He lettered as a freshman, and is planning to continue his running throughout high school and college.

"I would like to receive a scholarship in track and go to Madison," stated Jeff, who has been considering medical school.

Jeff was a reporter and a writer on the Index staff, a member of the math team and student council, and has been on the wrestling and basketball teams.

Traveling has always interested Junior Ruth Goldthwaite. Already she has traveled to many states in our country and is now looking forward to visiting other countries through the American Field Service. (AFS)

Germany is Ruth's first choice of countries she would like to visit. She has taken four years of German and would like to use and further her ability to speak it. Even so, Ruth would go anywhere just as long as she is able to go and experience another way of life.

"Everything I've always wanted to do, I could do if I took a trip to another country."

Ruth's family is also interested in getting to know more about another culture. They are all looking forward to hosting a foreign exchange student during the upcoming school year.

Fifarek, Voss Rise Above Crowd.

Hard work has paid off for these four individuals in their own ways. Whether it was discovering the vast uses of computers, listening and learning to all that music can offer, spending countless hours training and working with horses, or the grueling workouts that are required for successful running, each one of these people has accomplished a lot.

Donovan Williams first interest in computers came about in eighth grade. "I first used a computer in the UWO library in order to find books. The computer served as a card catalog," explained Donovan.

Donovan has done a lot to improve his ability in using computers. He bought an Apple IIe for home use and has taken numerous computer classes in school including computer math, introduction to computers, computer concepts, computer systems, and Computer Programming I at UWO. Through co-op, Donovan got a job at Medalist Industries. "I'm changing their programs to fit their new system, and writing new ones that are suggested by their employees."

Donovan planned to have computers in some aspect of his life in the future.

Donovan was the Editor-in-Chief of IN-DEX. He has been on the staff for three years. His job was to see that the paper gets done, assist the other editors, and train personnel.

"Music is a big part of my life," explained Beth Jungwirth. Beth has been playing her clarinet for seven years and has studied privately for five years. She has played in numerous Solo and Ensemble Festivals and received high scores for her playing. She also received a scholarship for a PMSA music clinic at UWO. This past year she was involved in the honors band, a special band sponsored by the college for talented musicians.

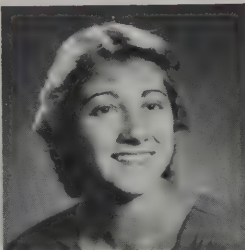

Beth sang in madrigals and A Capella choir. Someday she planned to go into music therapy or teaching in college. "I've learned to listen to music and to appreciate it."

For the past nine years, Laurie Fifarek has been taking riding lessons. She began taking lessons at Morningside Stables, and is now at a stable in Seymour, Wisconsin. "While I was taking lessons at Morningside, I joined a 4-H club. Soon I began to show the horse and liked it so much that I've continued to do it."

The Winnebago County Fair was the first place Laurie started showing Morgans. From there she has worked her way through qualifying shows, and has made it to the national shows more than once. She has won top ten ribbons for her showmanship in Hunt Seat and Saddle Seat.

Laurie has been involved in operetta and other school activities, although she devotes most her time to riding. "I ride for fun; it's both my hobby and my sport."

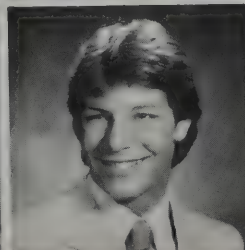

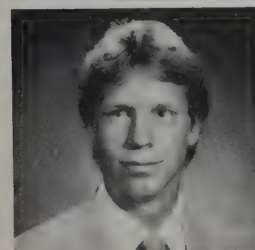

Shannon Voss started running in fifth grade, just because he liked it. For the last seven years he has kept at it and made it very close to the top. As a freshman he went to the state Cross Country meet as an alternate and as a senior made it all the way there. He was also actively involved in track. His specialties were the one and two miles races. Shannon was very pleased with the great improvement he has made over the years. Shannon planned to go into drafting and designing in college. "I hope to keep running throughout college."

Seniors Remember Auditorium

The "O" Room - That's where you could scream the loudest, strip, moon, whatever. (Jacki Arpin) You celebrated anything that happened to be at hand with your friends. (Kari Schneider) That's where I met most of the people I know. (Shelli Sauer) It was a good place to look at the better looking men. (Helen Carpenter) I lived there for the first three years of my school life. It was a place to be with your friends and keep an eye on your boyfriend. (Val Potratz) That is where I have spent my free hours and lunch hours for the past four years. Sitting at those graffiti-covered tables is unforgettable. (Pam Paulson) It was the best place to be at school. (Wes Wojahn) The Auditorium - Rehearsing and waiting to rehearse plays. (Scott Stearns) Foremost will be my remembrance of the civic auditorium and all the cold hours spent there. (Jeff Subat) Because from November to January it seems like my every waking moment is spent there for the show. It is my home away from home for three months. (Sarah Gorwitz) I spent most of the school year in it. Circus of Life and Showboat took up a lot of time, but I wouldn't have missed the chance to be a part of them. (Julie Elsinger) That is where I performed and saw many of my friends perform their many different talents. (Trisha McKeon) The Choir Room - I spent so much time in there practicing for madrigals, operettas, etc. Now that room is as comfortable as my own room. (Lori Raddatz) The Band Room - Only because I spent so much time there working on a piece or whatever else there was to do. (Becky Schultz) Most of my earlier years consisted of meeting new people in that room. I also used that room as an escape from the rest of the school. (John Gonia) The Gym - It's a really radical place. I could beat up people and get away with it. (Gary Langkau) That's where our graduation will be. (Deb Paulick) Boy's Upper Gym - A lot of good times occurred up there but most important a lot of new friendships grew strong. (Kim Meigher) The Stairs To The Boy's Upper Gym - I had to run the stairs for 10 minutes for some weeks. (Malin Breklert) The "B" Section Bathrooms - I didn't know they were there until the end of my sophomore year. (Libby Davies) The Boy's Bathroom East of The "O" Room - There were no mirrors, no doors on the stalls; as a matter of fact there were no stalls. (Jeff Poeschl) The Bathrooms - I went there to get out of class if it got boring. (Lori Ohlrich) The Computer Room - For two and half years I lived in that room. (Chuck Werba) Mr. Campbell's Classroom - When I was a freshman in his biology class I never got my work done, so I went in there every night to catch up on work. (Jill Kurkowski) My Locker - It was good source of entertainment. All my friends would gather there to hear the latest gossip and discuss most of the pressing issues at West. (Kip Spanbauer) Freshman Study Hall - It went so slow; it scarred my thoughts of high school. (Mike Woldt) The Maintenance Tunnels Underneath The School - There are many rats and other creatures down there. (David Cook) The North Section of The "C" Hallway - For three years it was a challenge to get through the hordes of people jammed in the section. All the girls had their lockers there and naturally spent a lot of time there in front of their lockers trying to look pretty. That's also why it was full of guys taking the long way to class. (Mike Rodman) The Guidance Office - I've been there everyday for reason or another. (Heidi Vowels) I've worked there ever since the beginning of school, sometimes two or three times a day. (John Duron) I'll never forget anything about West. (Annie Ohlsson)

Seniors Remember

I will remember our high quiz competition at Park Plaza where we killed North and lost to Hortonville, a team that has two paid coaches and really takes things seriously.- (Jeff Poeschl) I will remember picking on Mr. Weisse about his short pants.- (Liz Trickle) I will remember getting nervous about walking through the "O" room and seeing all those cute guys lined up against the windows.- (Helen Carpenter) A few things that I will remember happened in the day of "B.C." (before cars) such as walking to the store noon hours and sitting in the "O" room.- (Mary Brady) Looking at the new crop of girls every year and trying to understand the stupidity of my fellow students.- (Scott Lear) Being drafted as a slave my freshman year by Pom Pon girls and only bought for 80¢.- (Jenny Gueths) Things that I will remember doing are; late nights in the computer room; Index paste-ups, and cramming for tests between classes.- (Tony Jacques) I'll never forget how the open hours were always spent as far away from school as possible and how Hardee's was a great rescue shelter.- (Kim Meigher) In Sociology everyone was always hungry, so we would send somebody down to the

"O" room to buy donuts and cookies and smuggle them back to the classroom - (Jill Kurkowski) I remember getting into the cold water for swim practice when I didn't feel like it- (Heidi Vowels) My open hour will be remembered because it usually ended up in the office. (Gary Langkau) I will remember the fun that I had going to all the football games; it was great fun even if we lost- (Terri Counts) I will remember the year that we called up all the teachers we could think of and sang them We Wish You A Merry Christmas over the phone- (Rhonda Berndt) Being thrown out of the library during German class- (Steve Murley) In Computer Systems I was going to print things on the computer when I hit a wrong key and turned on the printer. It printed my entire disk on a sheet of paper that turned out to be 6 feet long.- (Annie Ohlsson) I will remember when Kelly Kotenberg pulled a chair out from under Mr. Kubsch, unintentionally, of course, in the "O" room- (Kay O'Laughlin) I will remember making pots in art and going to my classes full of clay and looking like a mess- (Sue Folz) Doing a lot of unnecessary work in my classes that will never help in life- (John Gonia) In theatre production I remember the one act plays we did for the grade schools here in Oshkosh- (Connie Ayers) I remember my sophomore year when I crawled out of Mr. Thompson's room window and taking off the rest of the day- (Gary Langkau) When I look back at these years, in the years to come, I will remember being in the musicals and other extra-curricular activities- (Mike Hutzler) Playing the laser in Rehberger's class and getting caught- (Bill Ziebell) I will remember the First-Aid demonstration when I was the one our teacher bandaged; you feel really dumb with everybody looking at you- (Karen Butt) I will never forget my sophomore year in Mrs. Wesenberg's creative writing when we had to make a soap opera. We had a student teacher with us and we got the roles of our soap accidentally reversed and he ended up pregnant. (Sarah Gorwitz) My open hours were a lot of fun because it was the only thing that got me through school- (Robin Harmon)

Seniors Have Fond

I will remember Mr. Wagner and Mr. Grable. Mr. Wagner because he was easy going and fun; Mr. Grable because he was always a sign of school spirit. (Mary Brady) Probably Mr. Holladay; he taught me a lot even though I never got higher than a "C" on my report card. (Scott Lear) Mr. Wallerman; he really knows how to relate to a person and their problems. He is a guy that has helped me more than he realizes through the last three years of school. he is a person that will listen to problems of help to create some. (Val Potratz) Mrs. Rogge because I had her for two years and enjoyed the activities she had in her class. I learned a lot about acting from her and really liked it. (Connie Ayers) Mr. Beuhner, I'll always remember having hot chocolate on cold days in the back of the room. (Mary

Sullivan) Mr. Gibbs with his red tie and holding up his podium so that it doesn't fall over. (Kari Schneider) Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Krueger. They were both a bit crazy and strange; it seemed that they were always arch rivals. (Jackie Arpin) The teacher that I will remember will be Mr. Hutchinson. He has really taught me alot, maybe more in one semester than in all three years at West. (Jody Voorhees) I will remember Mr. Hutchinson the most because he helped me improve my writing-something that will be a great help to me in college. (Karen Butt) Mr. Lynch and Mr. Hutchinson because they are both interested in the kids here. They really care and are good listeners. (Kelley Kotenberg) I will remember almost all of them because each of them made a very important contribution to my education. (Terri Counts) I'll always remember Mr. Krueger because he is the only teacher I know who can't pronounce "Hiroshima" correctly. (Jeff Subat) Mr. Lynch because he is the only teacher that treated you like a person. He is easy to open up to and tell your problems to. (Laurie Ficarek) I will remember Mr. Hutchinson because he has taught me a great deal, yet I was treated like a human being not just like a student. (Jeff Gonia) Mrs. Kaulfuss because she was a person that was easily talked to. (Lynette Lujack) I will remember all of my teachers that I had. They were all unique and had their own way of teaching. After all, how could you forget a face that you looked at every single day for a whole year? (Kim Meigher) I will remember all of my teachers because they were instrumental in helping me become what

I am and what I may become. (Kip Spanbauer) Mr. Holladay; he is the best teacher that I ever had. He also reminds me of Sylvester Stallone. (Gary Langkau) I will remember Mr. Z the most, he helped me through a lot of tough times. (Helene Hazen) Mr. Gibbs; he has a sharp tongue and told a good story. (Chuck Werba) Mr. Buehner, because he gave me a lot of insight on life by getting me involved in his psychology class. He also thought on our level more than the other teachers. (Lori Paulike) I will remember Jan Rieckman; she helped me get a job with food service. (Johnny Duron). Mr. Buehner because he can relate to his students better than any other teacher I've had. (Debra Paulick). I will remember Mr. Holladay, he was more than just a teacher he was your friend. (Sarah Gorwitz.)

Fred,

What can I say? You have given me such a hard time this year, it's hard to be civilized to you!! I'll try, though: you have a great sense of humor. Even though I'm usually the butt of every joke! Take care of yourself this summer in whatever you do!

Love,

We've Gone Places — Bye - Bye!

This year, through the making of this book, we went many places (Hero's, Billy's Deli, Prescott runs), did many things (went through two popcorn poppers, panicked when deadlines drew near, and generally caused a nuisance), and met many people. The people are too numerous to mention in Parentheses, and deserve special thanks.

Mr. John Thompson- Since 1954, John Thompson Thompson Studios has cheerfully and selflessly served students of Oshkosh high schools. In the twenty-odd years that he took portraits of all seniors, he never missed a student and provided free yearbook pictures to those who were unable to pay. When the system changed and students were allowed to choose studios, he continued to take group and special pictures for us at no charge. In so doing, he has climbed the roofs of our buildings, flown in airplanes, and walked our dark under-the-building tunnels. While we hooted, slouched, and made the peace sign (or worse), he encouraged us to stand tall, move closer together, and smile. He has stood for hours for us in makeshift studios in the gym, the auditorium, the media center and C-29 and then gone back to stand twice as long in his dark room. He has often overturned his studio for us as he did last year when he built a frame and plastered it with hundreds of magazines for our cover. This year we have to thank him especially for our fashion pages (10-11, 56-57). A perfectionist, he has printed hundreds of pictures to size for us, each within a fraction of an inch—usually with a deadline imminent. For thirty years, John and his wife Carol have retouched our droopy eyes, brushed out our straggly hair, and removed our acne. Thank you for making us look better than we were.

Mrs. Kaulfuss and her typing classes- For typing the Senior Directory and Index.

Mrs. Macdonald- At times when we needed typing immediately, she was always there to help.

Trying something different this year, NOTEBOOK was introduced to the world of computers. We thank the Math and Business departments for their cooperation.

Dr. Sheehy and the administrators- Who helped with all our announcements, handouts and sales.

For all the teachers who dealt with questionnaires, money, pictures and antics of the NOTEBOOK staff.

Ed Last- An unending source of new ideas. Without him, this book would have no cover, pages, pictures . . .

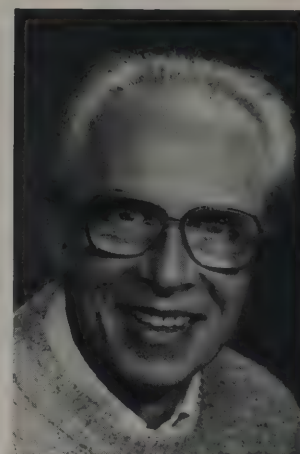

Bob- our custodian- Who braved the mess of paper, pop bottles, candy wrappers, and other necessities of life.

Kathii Ristow-Koepke- For all her help and moral support.

Scott Jay- As always, he was there to break the monotony of typing, loading and editing.

Mr. Wollerman- For all his help with the picture sales, numerous stories, and setting up pictures.

Oshkosh Public Library- For the information we always needed and that they were always able to find.

Fred, this year was such a riot. You'll have to stop over at another one of my get-togethers this summer. I had to call you this summer & see if you know where Eric is. But than again, he can take a care of himself. So, have a nice summer & good luck in the future.

Fred,

Have a great summer.
I'm really sorry that ~~things~~ things didn't work out the way you had hoped, but that's the way things go sometimes.
I hope we can be friends

Lynch Named Teacher of the Year

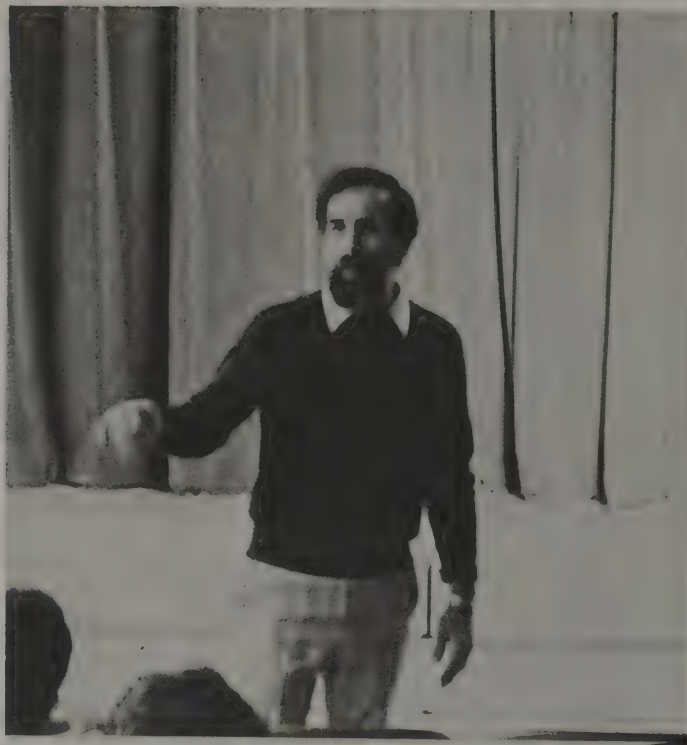

"It's great! I was surprised; I didn't realize that such a thing existed," was Mr. Tom Lynch's reaction after being named teacher of the year. This honor was originated and presented by Student Council. "It's a real honor because it comes from the students. It's a compliment and I really appreciate their vote of confidence," added Lynch.

Lynch has 21 years of experience, 12 of them at West teaching Drama, Creative Dramatics, Effective Speech, and Theater Productions. "I really enjoy teaching at West," he commented. "There are a lot of neat kids in this school who are not just good students, but also good people. I think of kids as friends."

According to Lynch, his most challenging class was Theater Production, as students worked mostly on their own. However, he added, "I like all my classes. Teaching is something I really love."

Lynch was picked by a Student Council committee for his excellence in teaching and service to the school. An example of his service can be seen in his 15 years of coaching Forensics and 20 years of directing school plays.

"This school has genuine friendliness, tolerance, and underlying spirit in this school that peaks at different activities," he continued. "People help one another, not for the pat on the back, but because they want to do it."

April 1 -Ronald Clark O'Bryan, who was convicted of poisoning his eight year old son on Halloween to collect $31,000 in insurance, was executed.

April 14 -Forty states toughened their laws against drunk drivers.

April 21 -The U.S. Center of Disease Control in Atlanta confirmed that researchers in France had isolated a virus thought to be the cause of AIDS.

April 13 -The U.S. space shuttle Challenger landed at Edward's Airforce Base, California. It completed a mission highlighted by the first repair of a damaged satellite in space.

April 16 -Marat Gramor, chairman of the Soviet Olympic Committee, proclaimed that the USSR would not participate in the 1984 Olympics.

April 22 -Great Britain severed diplomatic ties with Lybia.

Frosh Try New Scheduling System

Do you know who your counselor is? Of course you do, but how often do you see him or her? Everyone has to answer that they have at least once--for scheduling classes. Sophomores and juniors have done it for ages, but freshmen got into the act for the first time. It was all part of the change in scheduling for the freshmen.

As you may recall, freshmen from years past scheduled through their homeroom. Teacher recommendation sheets were handed out and signed by teachers and parents. Classes were chosen from the course selection guide and given to the homeroom teacher. From there, freshmen knew not what happened, but they magically were scheduled by the computer.

But wait! Freshmen no longer had to go through the homeroom. They received materials in the auditorium and made an appointment to see their counselor. Recommendations and course selection occurred as usual. After their decisions were made, freshmen met with their counselors to go over their classes. No more homeroom middleman.

Scheduling with the counselors went well and will be continued. Students objected to one part of the process. "I didn't see the point of the teacher recommendation sheets. Everyone knew pretty much what they were going to take, so it was kinda useless," said Kelly Nikolaus. Teachers and counselors felt they were worthwhile, however, because they prevented students from taking classes that were too easy or too advanced for them.

May 8- A $180 million out-of-court settlement was given to Vietnam veterans for injuries caused by Agent Orange.

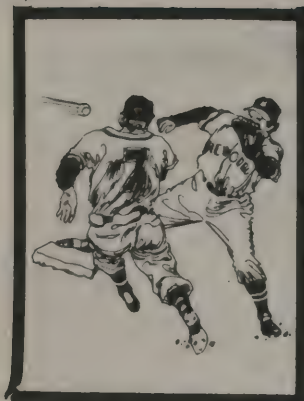

May 5- West held its first Junior-Senior Prom.

May 30 -The lunar eclipse happened at about 11:45 a.m. on the East Coast.

May 7 -Bulgaria and East Germany follow in the Soviet Union's footsteps, and withdraw from the 1984 Olympics.

June 7 -362 students graduate from WEST. Way to go!

May 17 -Andy Kaufman, star of Taxi and a stand-up comedian, died of lung cancer at the age of 35.

BASEBALL

With a total of 18 boys trying out, and only 3 of them returning lettermen, the varsity baseball team did not expect to set the conference on fire. After cuts and people quitting, the varsity squad and a total of 13 members left. Despite this, the team tied for fifth place in conference standings with a 6-8 conference record, and 6-10 overall.

Comparing this year's team to teams of the past, coach Chuck Grable commented, "It was slightly better than average, had good potential, but never peaked out." He felt the team's major strengths were the hitting, base stealing, and the ability to score. He cited their major weakness as being, "early in the season, inadequate pitching-poor defense, late in the season." All-conference honorable mention outfielder Mike Heinbigner added the team's positive attitude was an asset.

Five players received recognition. Chris Holm was named first team all conference catcher. Honorable mention went to first baseman, Greg Danke; third baseman, Mike Rodman; designated hitter, John Krause; and Heinbigner. Holm had the best batting average with .432, 23 RBI's, 5 doubles, 3 triples, and 1 homerun. Kevin Roe was cited with the lowest ERA of the pitchers. Like the varsity, the JV squad had only a small number of boys on the team. Coach Jim Wollerman thought they could have done better if their catcher hadn't caught the chicken pox and if suspensions had not occurred. The team finished the season with a 9-5 record overall and 8-5 record for the conference, good enough for third place in FVA standings.

Russ Keller and Brian Ronson, two freshmen, were moved up in the beginning of the year, and Dave Hauser moved up for the last 4 games. Coach Wollerman commented, "The freshmen filled in some spots where quality was needed." Ronson also led the team with the best batting average with a .327 and Kurt Miller had the lowest ERA.

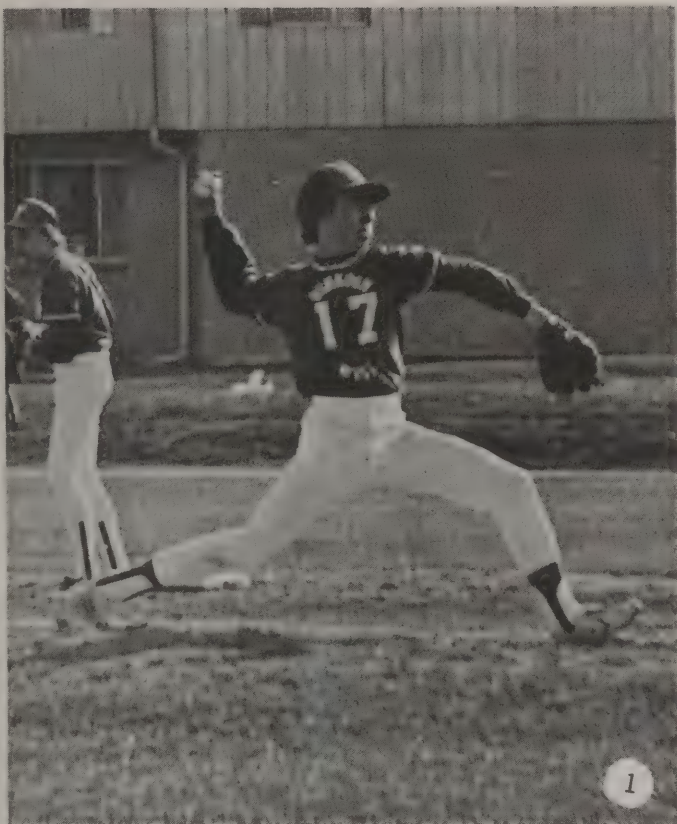

The freshmen ended their season with a loss against cross-town

SOFT-BALL

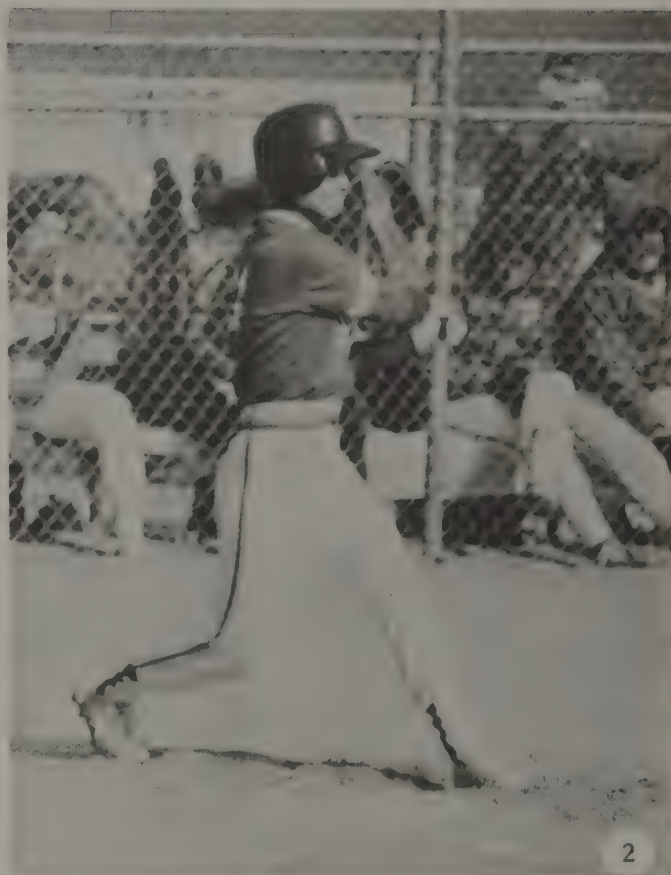

Although the softball team didn't have an impressive win-loss record (2-12 in conference and 3-16 overall), Coach Weisse felt his young team developed and improved throughout the season. He pointed out, "Not only did the girls develop as complete softball players, but they also developed as people."

The key to any team sport is pulling for each other. This attitude was most prevalent when the team traveled to Kimberly for a double-header. "The most satisfying games were the two we played against Kimberly. Despite trailing Kimberly, the girls pulled for each other, cared for each other, and played together throughout both games," stated Coach Weisse. The girls lost the games 7-3 and 3-2, holding Kimberly scoreless for the first five innings of the second game.

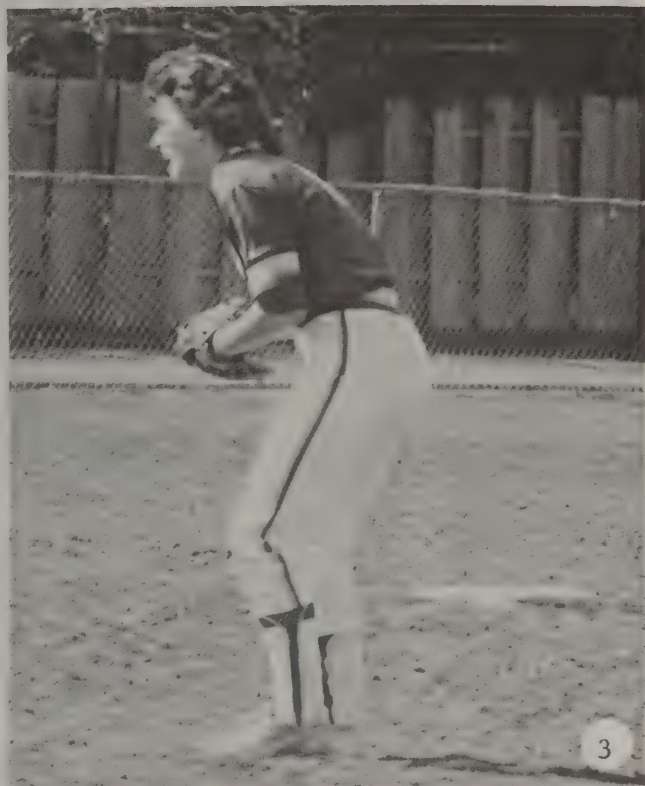

Junior teammates Brenda Peters and DeeDee Zuhlke agreed with their coach in that the team's best games were against Kimberly. Third-baseman Peters stated, "Although we lost our confidence in some games due to our lack of experience, we never stopped encouraging each other." DeeDee Zuhlke pitched well all season, but didn't get the needed offensive and defensive support. She felt her best game was against cross-town rival Oshkosh North. In that game, the junior hurler fanned four batters while walking none, but North won the game 3-2. "I think we will do better next year because everyone will be back. We will be more confident," commented Zuhlke.

Five players were named to the all-conference team. Junior Sandy Langkau was a unanimous choice on the first team at shortstop. Sophomore Angie Handler was also named to the first team as an outfielder. Receiving honorable mention were DeeDee Zuhlke (utility player), sophomore Lori Wagner (infield), and freshman Leslie Pelky (outfield). Langkau led the team in hitting with a .416 batting average. Other leading hitters were Pelky (.350), Wagner (.338), Handler (.327), and Cindy Goyette (.314).

Leading hitters on the JV squad were sophomores Missy Krause and Missy Martin and freshmen Lisa Luchun and Brenda Justman. The team started out slow, but improved in many aspects of their game. Coach Pagel commented, "We improved on our defense which was our weakest point in the beginning of the season." She cited Sally Cady as the player with the best attitude. Sally tried to encourage her teammates and got them to encourage each other.

BOYS' TRACK

The lack of experience and team depth was responsible for the sixth place finish of the boys' track team at the conference meet. But despite the poor placing, several school records were set. The 400 relay team of Mike Berger, Mark Bruss, Jeff Faust, and Bill Olson placed third with a time of 45.1 as they set their record. Steve Gordon set an individual record in the 400 with a time of 52.8.

"We were a young team," said Coach Russell Hoxtell. "We made a lot of mistakes, but we learned from them. I just hope it helps us next year."

At the regional meet held at Manitowoc, nine runners advanced to the sectional meet. Steve Gordon qualified in the 800, Berger, Bruss, Faust, and Olson in the 400 relay, and Steve Kubeny, Mike Berger, Tim Kampmann, and Steve Gordon in the mile relay.

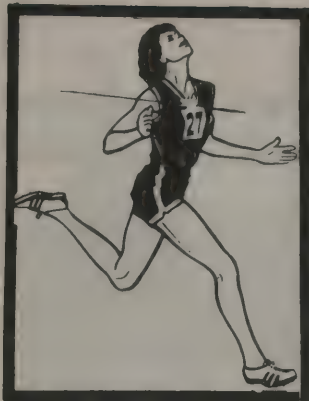

Placing second at sectionals with a time of 1.58 in the 800, Steve Gordon earned himself a state berth. "He worked really hard this year," Coach Hoxtell commented. "I just want him to go down to Madison and enjoy himself."

1. Cary Gauger glides over the high hurdle. 2. At the sound of the gun, Craig Downs sprints out of the blocks in the 60 yard dash. 3. Starting his kick, Fred Hintz leads Steve Kubeny in the final 100 yards of the mile run. 4. Roger Nelson gives his all in the long jump. 5. Up and over the bar goes John Koerwitz in the pole vault. 6. Edging out an opponent, Tim Kampmann strains to round the bend.

GIRLS' TRACK

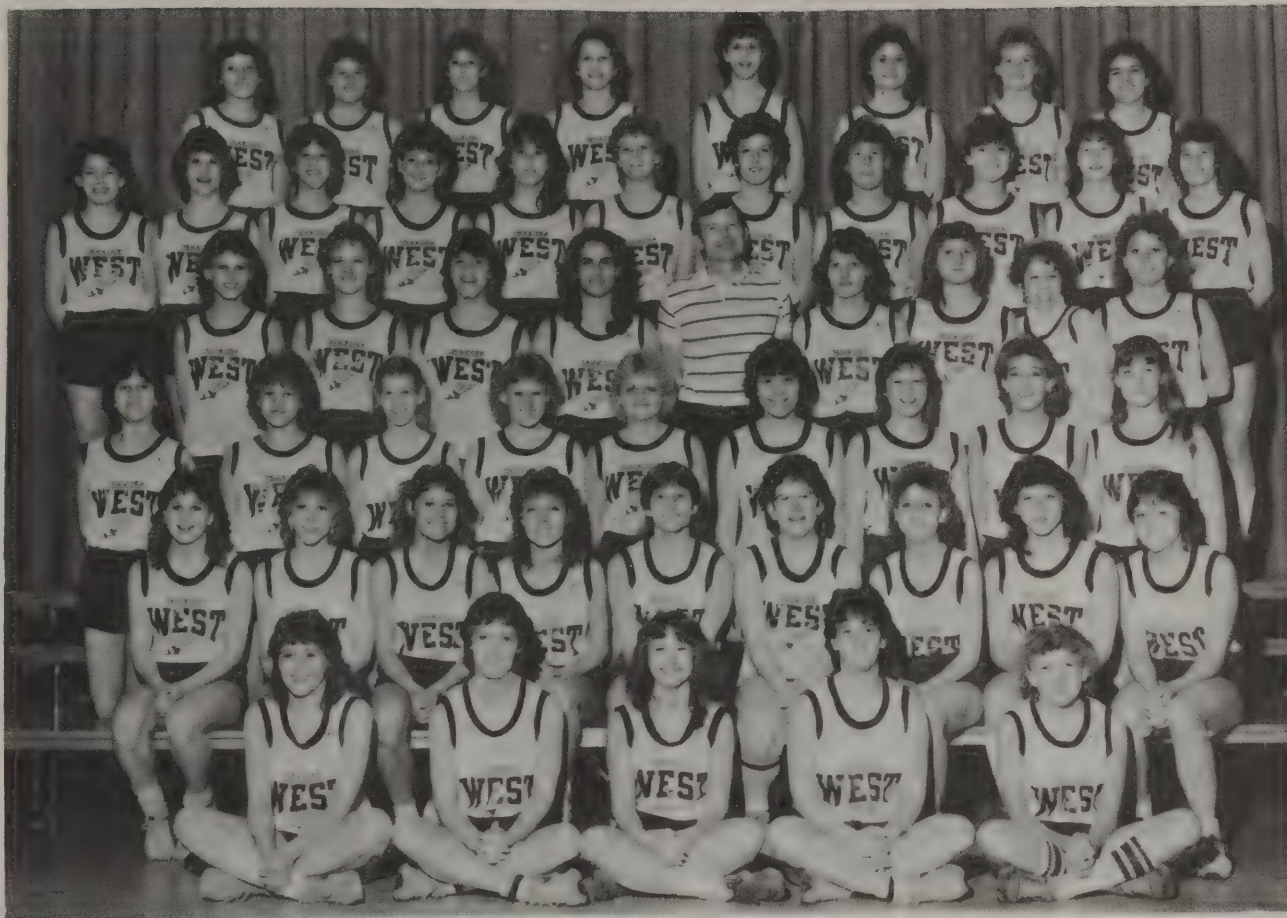

What makes a first rate track team? To find the answer, take a look at Bob Meronk's girls' squad. Not only did they capture the conference title for three straight years, they also took first in regionals. School records were broken. The new records were Tricia Nielsen with a 2:21.4 in the 800 meter run; Kris Baehman with 17 feet 8½ inches in the long jump; Annie Ohlsson with a 14.9 in the 100 meter high hurdles; and Kelly Albrecht with 33 feet 9½ inches in the triple jump.

The origin of the team's success was due to four main factors, according to Bob Meronk, the girls' coach. One of them was that, "We had 54 hard-working girls who stuck with it." With that many girls, the team had depth; that is, girls not only took first, but second and third places also. Attitudes of the girls also played a part in the success. "The seniors really helped the team. They were the leaders and their attitudes will carry over to next year's team. They knew what was expected of them."

Good coaching plays an important part in a top notch team. Assistant coaches helped out with different areas of the team. Joey Meyer spent time with the sprinters. Jean Van Den Bogart, a previous school record holder, aided the shot putters and discus throwers. John Petton coached distance and Kathy Baehman assisted the long and triple jumpers. Outstanding individual performances were the fourth factor in the success. "Kris Baehman was the best athlete of all. She's the best to come out of West. Annie Ohlsson was a natural. She was a hard worker," concluded Meronk. Both went to state. Kris qualified in the 100 and 400 meter dashes, and also in the long jump. Annie's times in the 100 and 300 meter hurdles also made her a state contender.

1. Kathy Butt arches high to clear the bar of the high jump. 2. Straining for every inch, Vicky Sphatt competes in the triple jump. 3. After executing a hand-off with her teammate, Tricia Nielsen takes over the race. 4. With eyes fixed on the finish line, Helen Carpenter sprints the last leg of her relay. 5. After receiving the baton from her teammate, Lucy Hielsberg strives to keep her team in the lead.

TENNIS

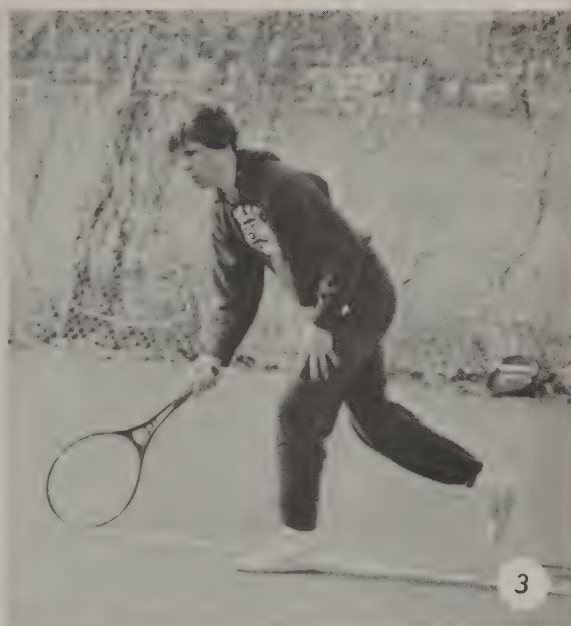

Beating crosstown rival Oshkosh North is always a cause for celebration, but for West's boys' tennis team it was the highlight of their losing season. "Beating North was an upset. We pulled it off with key wins from Dave Pimiskern, Scott Baier, Jeff Singstock and Mike Youngwirth. We played well and caught North by surprise," said Coach Braugheor Zeitler. Defeating North added a much needed win to their disappointing final 3-8 record. In conference the team had two wins and five losses; their in-conference wins came from beating North 5-4 and Kimberly 8-1. West's only other victory came in a non-conference match against Ripon, whom they easily crushed 8-1.

The eight team North-West Invitational gave West another opportunity to beat North. The #1 doubles team of Pimiskern and Baier took the opportunity and picked up a medal at the same time. The duo defeated the North #1 doubles team 6-4, 6-2 to win consolation play.

The major factor in West's less than winning season was inexperience. "It wasn't necessarily youth, but lack of actual court experience," said Zeitler. The team was comprised of six seniors, but only three of the 18-man squad were returning letter-winners. One senior despite lack of experience drew praise from the coach. "Scott Baier did an exceptional job his first year out. He was a big surprise. It's too bad he won't be returning next year," stated Zeitler. "I had fun out there; that was what I was out there for. I wish I had gone out for tennis earlier," said Baier. Baier was named Most Improved Player while Mike Woldt was given the title of team captain.

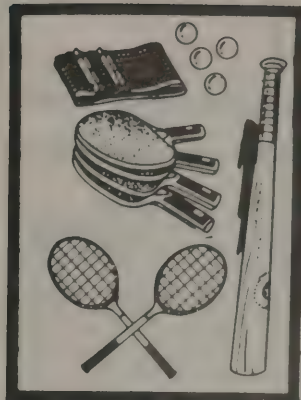

Closing out the season Dave Pimiskern was the only West player to advance past the first round of sectional play. Pimiskern, the #1 varsity man, gained a spot in 2nd round play by defeating his Appleton West opponent 7-6, 6-1.

INTRA-MURALS

"Students are the ones that make intramurals go, there wouldn't be anything without them," said intramurals advisor Jim Wollerman. There were close to 1000 participants in this year's intramural program, slightly less than last year. The leading sports were volleyball with 24 teams and softball with 13. "Senior and freshman participation were low, but there was a great turnout of sophomores and juniors for all sports. I'd like to see more of this year's freshmen participate next year," continued Coach Wollerman.

A new sport was introduced this year: boys' team murderball. Of this large turnout a sophomore team achieved the victory. "It was a lot of fun, I hope they do it again next year. The competition was pretty close," said championship team member and sophomore Troy Durkee. "I think the guys really had fun with murderball," said Wollerman. "Intramurals give you something to do at noon so that you don't get so bored," said sophomore Donnie Staerkel.

"I'd like to thank the student council, Limited Distributors, FFA, and especially the Booster Club for the money and T-shirts."

Lynch Bewitches State Forensics Judges

To many students, the spring play, Dark of the Moon, was a new and strange experience. The play, a story based around the ballad of Barbara Allen, involved the fantasy of witches, the romance of a young couple, and the pains of death, with loads of fun and comedy thrown in between. Junior Kelly Ford commented, "I thought the play was a lot of fun. Sure it was a challenge, but that is what made it fun! We had to work hard, but we still had a great time." An embarrassing moment was recalled by junior Mark Miller. "The most embarrassing part of the show for me was one of the scene changes. I dropped one of the house frames too low. The actors on stage had to duck to get through it!" The play left its mark on the crew as well as the actors. Junior Amy Heller comments, "It was fun working with the people we had. I learned a great deal about working with other people. It was a good experience for me." Sophomore Doug Lampe said, "My favorite part of the play was when I had to get on my knees and confess my sin of pleasuring myself in the barn with Edna Summey to the whole congregation. I was really embarrassed the first couple of times!"

The thing that makes this year's play different from those of previous years is the choral effects. Not only were there songs, something not usually found in a play, but there was also a rhythmic effect to many of the lines. This caused the story to flow along.

Another difference was the lighting and scenery. The scenery was not the traditional table and chair props. There was a lot of fantasy and implied objects. The rocks which covered the back of the stage were not only jaggedly cut, but they were painted in a way to suggest ripples and contours. Combined with the special lighting effects, these rocks seemed to glow as if they were alive. The same effect was gained with special house drops. Houses and buildings were implied with roof frames, painted in the same manner as the rocks.

The special lighting effects included a large tree and a full moon projected onto a scrim. There were also different colors of light spread across the entire stage. These special effects were the creation of the new stage manager, Tom Hanson. These special effects were combined with acting to form a special effect that seemed to bring the auditorium to life.

The sport of forensics is not widely known around the school. But known or not, the team once again took the conference meet and sent 23 entrants to state forensics where 21 made A ratings. Freshman Lisa Hart commented, "Forensics is a good experience. I really had fun this year." Junior Dawn Hinds added, "It really surprised me how well everyone did. We couldn't have done much better." The team topped off the season by winning the William Hintz Memorial award for excellence in speech.

1. Preacher Haggler (Bill Fetter) marries Barbara (Julie Elsinger) to John (Mike Hutzler). 2. The witches make a pact with the conjure man. 3. At the revival, the congregation rejoices as Marvin Hudgens (Mark Miller) breaks the spell. 4. At the dance, townsfolk discuss the eeriness of the night. 5. Uncle Smellicue (Jeff Poeschl) tells the villagers the story of the ring stolen from the casket. 6. Edna Summey (Betsy Hartman) tells Barbara that she'll never get a husband. 7. A recurring theme in the play is "The Ballad of Barbara Allen" which Julie Elsinger sings at the dance.

 "the story of Fred" a
 "the wife who has no body". Fred was a lonely character with only one friend, himself.
 who nobody liked him he was useless and therefore as useless as porridge.
 Since I have no ending to this story the stops here. Have a great summer and party to the maximum. Don't forget my house.

Fred, cute when you want the lawn your but anyway you should learn to play the trumpet.
 You egocentric fool. Your brother takes drugs.

Fred,
 you are one of the stupidest guys I know but you're nice and that makes up for it.
 Take it easy this summer
 don't party too much.
 You're always kidding me, right?

 What can I say Fred,
 we were great or I was great You are one of a showboat wasn't kind! I'll never forget as good as Brigadoon that one night in the but it had its woods trying to fix times. Oh well Laut's car. when you we have one came with you boots more year to live and stuff. You really it up before we are a nice guy, I leave so stay hope I see you cool and live sometime. Good luck it up with what ever you are going to do!
